PUZZLE OF LIFE

Life, like this wooden puzzle, consists of several complex pieces. Since these parts will fit together in numerous ways, forming various shapes the process used dictates the end result.

One slowly begins the procedure of creating this puzzle, his life. Each piece of the puzzle is unmatched, each moment in a student's life is unique. Every sports event, class, discussion, assignment, and activity in which a student participates molds his character, his personality.

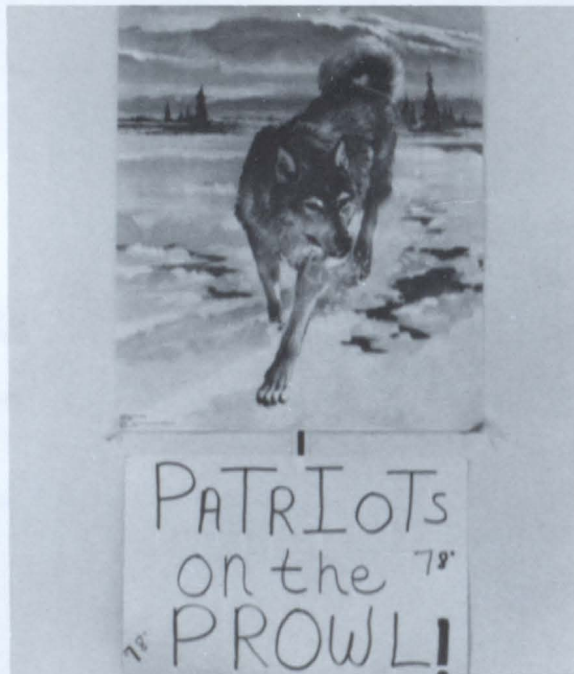

Moments of glory, shame, victory, and defeat affect the student as he strives to perfect the pieces of his puzzle. Yet, whether he loses or wins, is asked to join a particular club or is kept out, is not of the ultimate importance; how he wins, how he loses, how he accepts the decisions of others prepares the student for his future, strengthening the puzzle pieces or weakening them.

BELOW RIGHT: That's not where my lipstick goes!

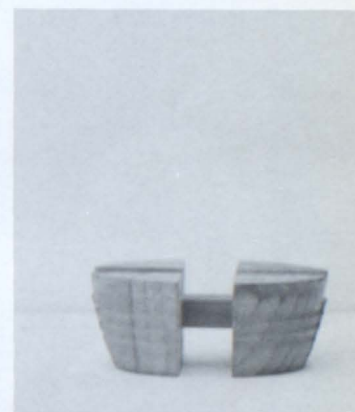

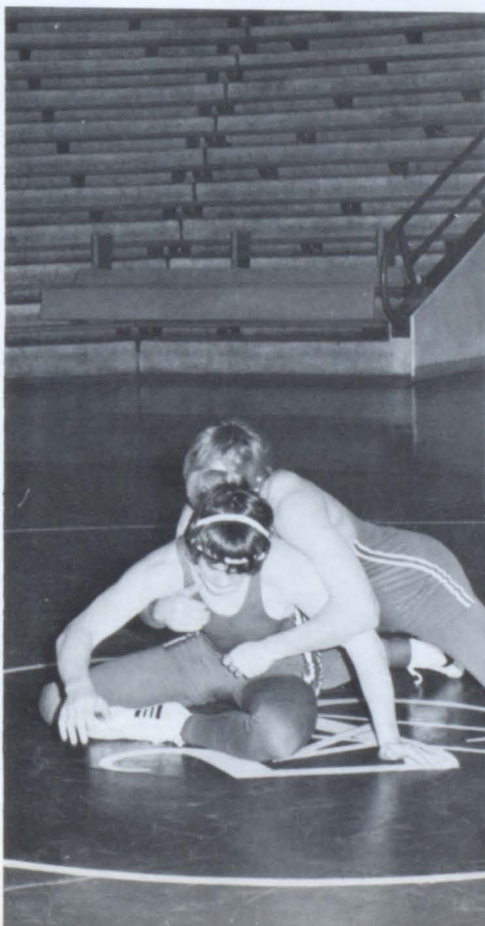

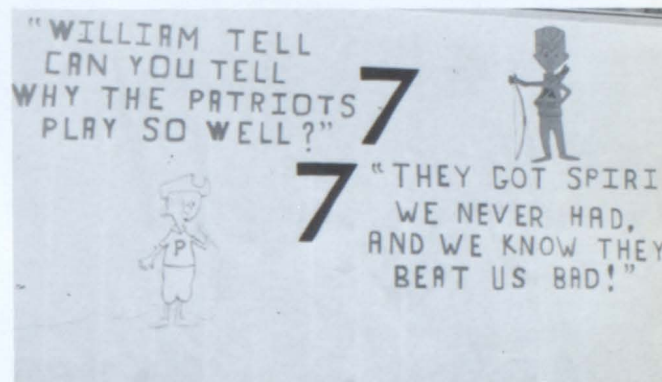

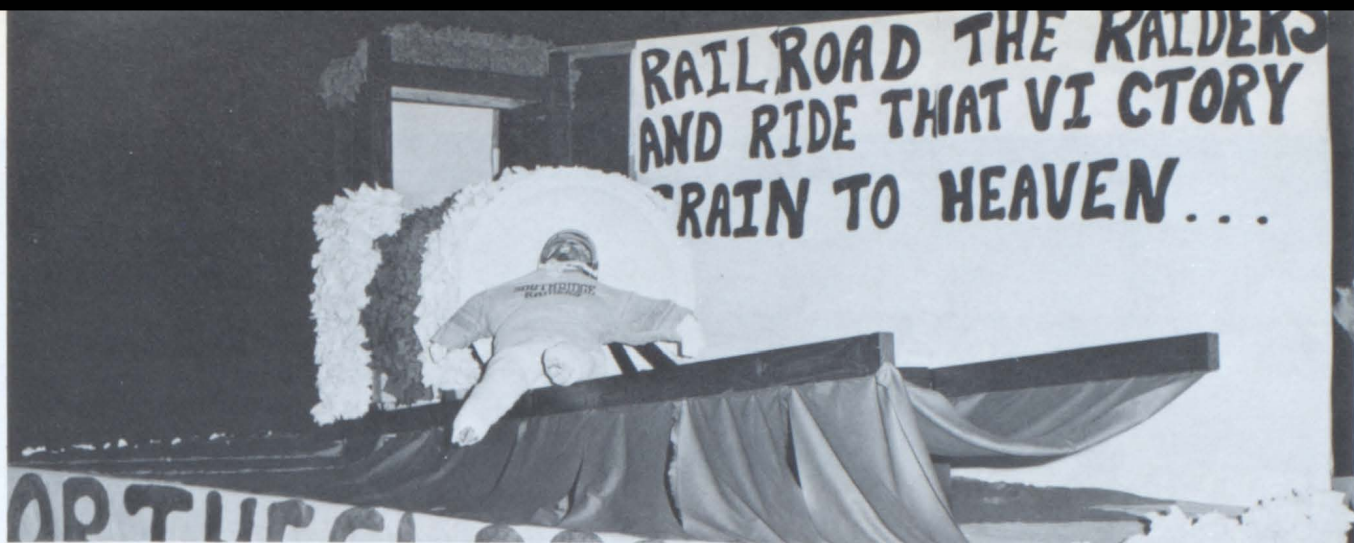

FAR LEFT CENTER: Let's see, I want a book on Spanish.

FAR RIGHT BOTTOM: Contortionists

THIS GAME IS 1 BIG JOKE 'CAUSE
RAIDERS YOUR GONNA GET SMOKED

The formation of the puzzle continues day after day, week after week. Sometimes a large piece is added, sometimes only a groove. He may have only one line in the school play or a complete solo in the concert; he may be the star player or the one who sits on the bench all night; he might be the straight A student or the one who slaves over his books for an A. No matter who he is or what he does, he and his goals are important. The smallest groove may mean the successful formation in his puzzle; the omission of the groove may mean the failure.

FAR CENTER RIGHT: I want to fly like an eagle.

FAR BOTTOM RIGHT: Let me show you how, Mrs. Wright.

CENTER: No guys, the camera is in front.

Teachers, parents, friends, and peers continually strive to perfect the intricate pieces of the puzzle. Forever mindful of the valuable commodity they are fabricating, their greatest desire is to see battles won, dreams accomplished, and lives fulfilled.

FAR TOP RIGHT: Blow that horn!

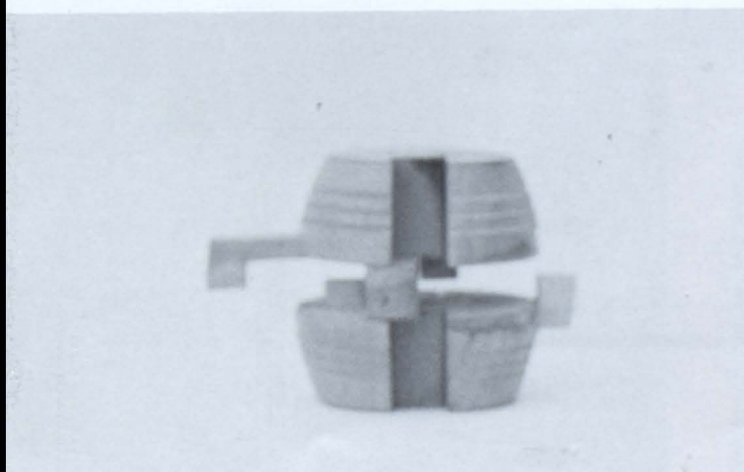

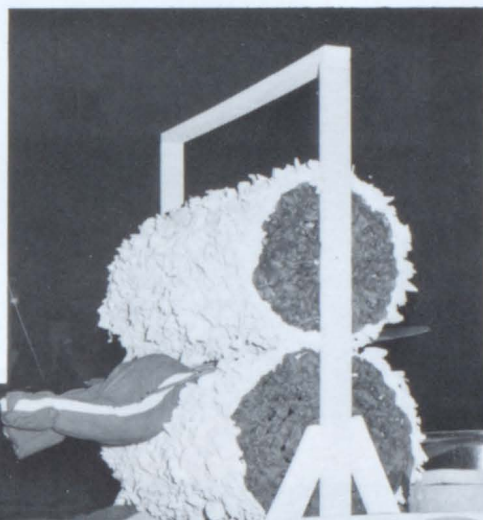

FAR CENTER: What would we do without them?

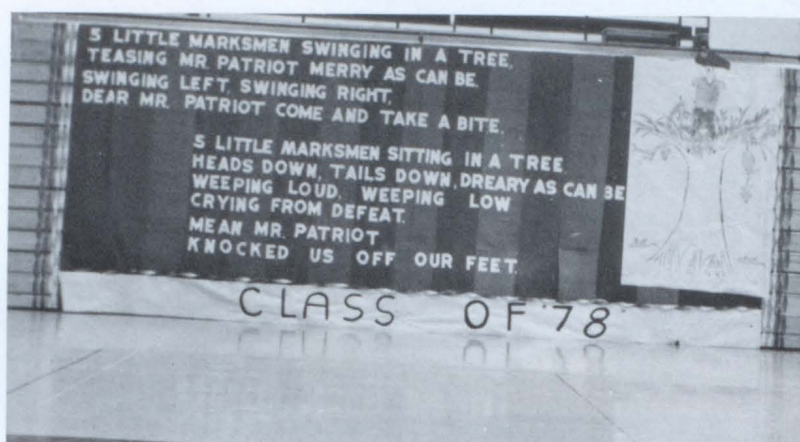

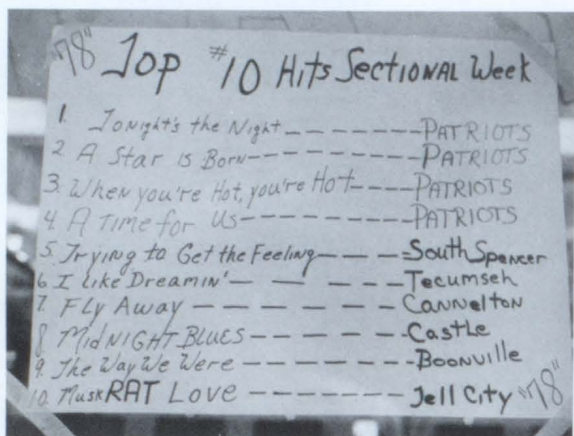

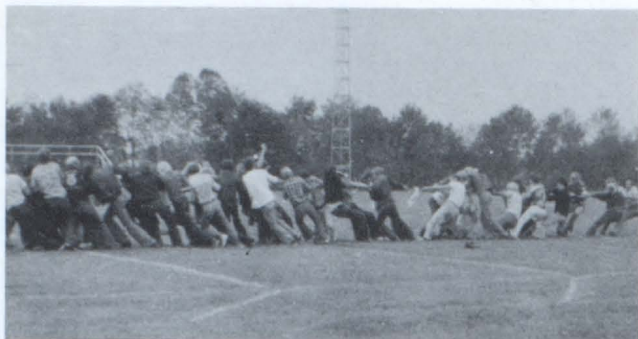

FAR BOTTOM LEFT: Have you had your Wheaties today?

BOTTOM RIGHT: That's the way we like it.

Nevertheless, the one person with immense control is the student himself. How wisely he chooses his friends, selects his classes, utilizes his time, and makes other decisions affects each minute piece of his puzzle. Others may offer guidance and counsel, but the final verdict is of his own choosing. How he reacts to whatever situation he encounters demonstrates the depth of his being, the solidarity of his puzzle.

TOP LEFT: "Was it an even match?"

FAR TOP RIGHT: We've got to stop meeting this way.

FAR BOTTOM LEFT: "There's no business like show business . . ."

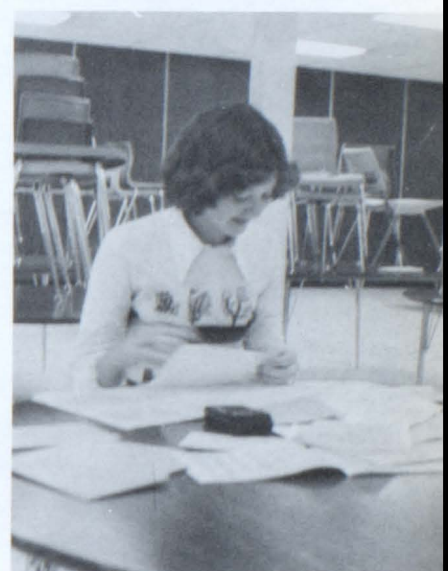

Finally, as a senior, his puzzle is complete. All the original building of character, the sanding by experience, and the designing by parents and teachers is finished. The polishing, the struggling has been completed. His puzzle, his life, is now totally under his control.

 CENTER LEFT: Ride the Reading Rocket.
 CENTER RIGHT: Another mistake, Angie?
 BOTTOM: Legs are here.

Ironically, graduation marks the beginning of change. Pieces of the puzzle will be removed, altered, discarded, replaced, or eliminated completely. Years from now only a slight outward resemblance to the original puzzle will stand fast as a foundation for the individual, a Heritage Hills High School Patriot.

'A TIME FOR US'

On May 6, 1977, the Juniors presented the Senior class with "A Time For Us" at the Heritage Inn. It was an exciting evening for all with dancing to "Free Reign." The king and queen chosen for the evening were Ron Pund and Rita Brockman. Even though it was raining outside, the beautiful atmosphere inside provided a romantic, rememberable night for all.

The memories that the graduates have of all the great times during high school and all the friends that were made won't easily be forgotten; nor will the Class of '77 be forgotten for this class helped to make H. H. S. a great school.

PATRIOTS GRAB HOLIDAY TOURNEY . . .

The Patriots beat Boonville in the last game of the Holiday Tourney by one point. B. Ayers won the Most Valuable Player Award during the tourney. The Pats had an overall season of 17-6. The season was an exciting one with the first two ballgames going into overtime and having the Patriots come out the winners. Heritage Hills also won both games against Evansville Schools and a game against Boonville all in one week.

The team was inspired by the tremendous support of the cheerblock and cheerleaders through out the entire season.

The Patriots drew Tell City for the first game of the sectional. The boys played a great game and defeated them. This was the first time Heritage Hills had beaten Tell City in the sectionals. After that game, the Patriots met with South Spencer for another victorious game. Then the Patriots fought a difficult battle with Boonville only to lose by three points. Even though the sectional title was not won by the Pats, the team still came out "winners" in the opinions of their fans.
