Taking it to the Limit

Taking it to the LIMIT

South Spencer High School students know how to take it to the LIMIT! Everything we do is success because our students know that hard work and dedication will bring favorable results. Many of the students are outgoing and talented people which proves that South

Spencer has the capability of overcoming any obstacle that stands in the path of success. No matter what kind of challenge we face through the years we know we will accept it with dignity because South Spencer students go above and beyond the LIMITS to be successful because we all know that if your keeping score, winning is the only thing. So, At South Spencer High School we will continue to do the best we can, and be proud we are Rebels, and take ourselves to the LIMIT!

YaskY

Many strange things happen in this world, and there is no way that everything that happens can have an answer to the question "Why"? This becomes all too obvious when you walk through the doors at South Spencer.

It seems as if you can walk through the halls and find the most unusual things. Whether it be someone's unusual taste in clothing or the way someone chooses to where their hair it is obvious that everyone is unique.

Some people try to be off the wall on purpose and some people aren't always trying, but those kind of people make up a whole different story of their own. However, at any rate, the people of our school will make their mark on the world.

It seems sometimes like the whole purpose of being here is a popularity contest to see who can be the loudest, the funniest, the best looking, or even the best hair.

However, our school is a pretty mild mannered school. No one wears green hair or wears any clothing that is just too outrageous. No one has any really unusual taste, but for many of us. The smallest things make us ask "Why?"

But, of course, not everyone has the same opinions as everyone else, and there will always be, like there always has been, many things that will make us curious and inquisitive. These things are what will make us always keep asking the question "Why?" However, we say Why as Why!

Below: Phil Vaughan gives us the o.k. The toss must have been in our favor.

Spirit WEEK

S-P-I-R-I-T Spirit! Let's hear it!

South Spencer has always been known to have wonderful school spirit. Our student body has proven that time and time again. Our school has the largest crowd at almost all the football, basketball, and baseball games, and everyone is always on their feet ready to cheer.

Our school has many activities to keep the student body so involved. Such as the bright colored spirited signs that adorn the walls in the hallway. These are provided for us by the cheerleaders.

The cheerleaders also organize what is very popular to many of the students. That is known as spirit week. During spirit week, which is usually finished with a homecoming football or basketball game, the students are encouraged to dress in their favorite farm clothes, wear clothing that advertises their favorite college, wear their favorite hats, and also wearing their favorite cowboy clothes.

Everyone agrees that it is always interesting to come to school the next day and see who will wear the most outrageous outfit or wear the biggest hat. This is what makes spirit week so fun.

Along with the unusual dressing habits of the week there are huge bonfires, loud pep sessions, and even parades. This and other activities all contribute to the fact that when we have a basketball game or a football game our stands are filled at home or away. It is simply fun to get involved in the extracurricular activities involved in homecoming week.

Let it RAIN

Homecoming 1993! Who could ever forget the parade in the pouring rain or the Senior float that didn't even make it to the parade? These are memories that we will carry with us forever.

Like always, this homecoming week started out with theme days including favorite team day which was held on Monday. For the rest of the week we had cowboys and farmers roaming the halls. not to mention hat day and Rebel spirit day.

After school on Friday, we all proceeded to Main Street, Rockport where the parade would finally be held after one cancellation already. there we stood intently with our umbrellas waiting to see our classes float, and of course listening for the sounds of the fire trucks that would be carrying our Rebel football team.

The float contest was judged right before the parade and the winners were the freshmen with the theme "Blow the Cannon, Ring the Bell, Mark the Spot Where the Trojans Fell." the rest of the prizes went to the Juniors for second place and the Sophomores for third place. The Seniors, however, didn't quite make it to the parade for reasons that we will not discuss in this story. I don't think the Seniors that were involved in the float could forget that experience if they tried. However, everyone had a great time getting together and working on the float whether their float won or lost.

Later that night everyone hoped that it wouldn't rain, but we weren't that lucky! The whether was not the best. However, the rain did hold off just long enough for the anxious crowd to see Crystal Frakes and Dennis Todd be crowned as Prince and Princess. Then, Travis Smith was chosen as King and he would escort Charla Hasty, who was chosen as Queen.

The Homecoming football game was not the most exciting game, but it is great when your team wins by such a huge margin. The final score showed the South Spencer Rebels to be victorious over the Wood Memorial Trojans with a score of 47 to 0.

Clint Wetherill, Jason Coultas, Ben Broeker, Jason DeWeese, and Jeff Joiner.

Left: Everyone needs a ride to school and no one, not even Heather Pounds, could refuse a ride with John Swanker and his big green tractor machine.

Top: Before the field was nearly flooded, Charla Hasty was escorted by Travis Smith as they took their places as King and Queen.

Bottom: Crystal Frakes and Dennis Todd made a perfect couple in their reign as Prince and Princess.

Friends FOREVER

Friends! What does it mean to you? To many people, a friend is someone who is always there when you need a good shoulder to cry on. To other people your best friend is someone who is there to tell all your intimate secrets to. A friend is something different for every person, but one thing is for sure it is almost a necessity to have one.

South Spencer is a very small school in southern Indiana with a little less than 550 students. Because of the size of our school, the students seem to be closer than they would if they lived in a big city or went to a school with 550 students in each grade. It is this small town feeling that many of us love. We like it when we go to school and know everyone's first name and we like the personal attention we get from our friends.

To many young people in high school, it seems like the purpose of school is not to get an education, but to instead meet new people often of the opposite sex. Often it feels more like school is a social gathering. You see boyfriends and girlfriends walking down the halls holding hands and you see everyone trying to catch up on the latest gossip and rushing to meet their friends after class.

Many teachers and adults may not approve of passing notes in class and talking and laughing so much with friends in school, but the social aspect of high school many times can be a learning experience as well. I think many of the students would agree.

Winter

ROYALTY

At South Spencer we know how to take it to the limit, especially during Homecoming Week. Every year the students vote for candidates to represent their class in the homecoming court. this year we started the week off, as always, with some outrageous theme days, such as hat day, favorite team day, camoflauge day, flannel day, and, of course, Rebel spirit day. At the end of each theme day, the cheerleaders chose different individuals for having the most spirit and wearing the most elaborate outfit. These people were awarded various prizes.

Also, during this week, each class participated in a hall decorating competition that allowed them to take their spirit to the limit. The halls were all adorned with balloons and streamers, which showed the team just how much we supported them. The entire week was spent competing for various reasons and awards, but the biggest competition of the week came on Friday night when the South Spencer Rebels were to play the Castle Knights. We took this week to the limit when South Spencer beat Castle with a score of 57 to 35.

Then, during half time of the varsity game, a competition of a different kind was held. This was for King and Queen. Nancy Wolford and John Wetherill were named King and Queen, and Ericka Mayne and Joey Ling were named Prince and Princess.

Although, Homecoming week came to an end, our basketball season did not. I guess our boys just had a different plan in mind. They were going to take us, once again, to the limit, with a second Regional win and a trip to the Semi-State competition in Terra Haute, Indiana.

SECOND HOME

To some people school is not over over at 3:09. For many students at South Spencer the day has just begun. Especially since a majority of the student body is involved in extracurricular activities whether it be athletics or organization's meetings. For the students involved in sports and various other activities it is difficult to find time to do anything else including finding the time to even go home.

South Spencer High School is to many people a second home. When you walk through the halls after school or even in the evening you will see almost anything. There are people talking on the phones, eating dinner, and doing just about anything that they would feel comfortable doing in their own home.

Many people would feel it would be more practical to even bring their sleeping bags and camp out on the floor in front of their locker. This would almost be the same as what many people do now. For instance, every morning people start getting at school at around 7:00. These people are still eating breakfast and fixing their hair. Then, after school, people are still in the building as late as 9:00 or 10:00 at night participating in sporting events. So, why even go home?

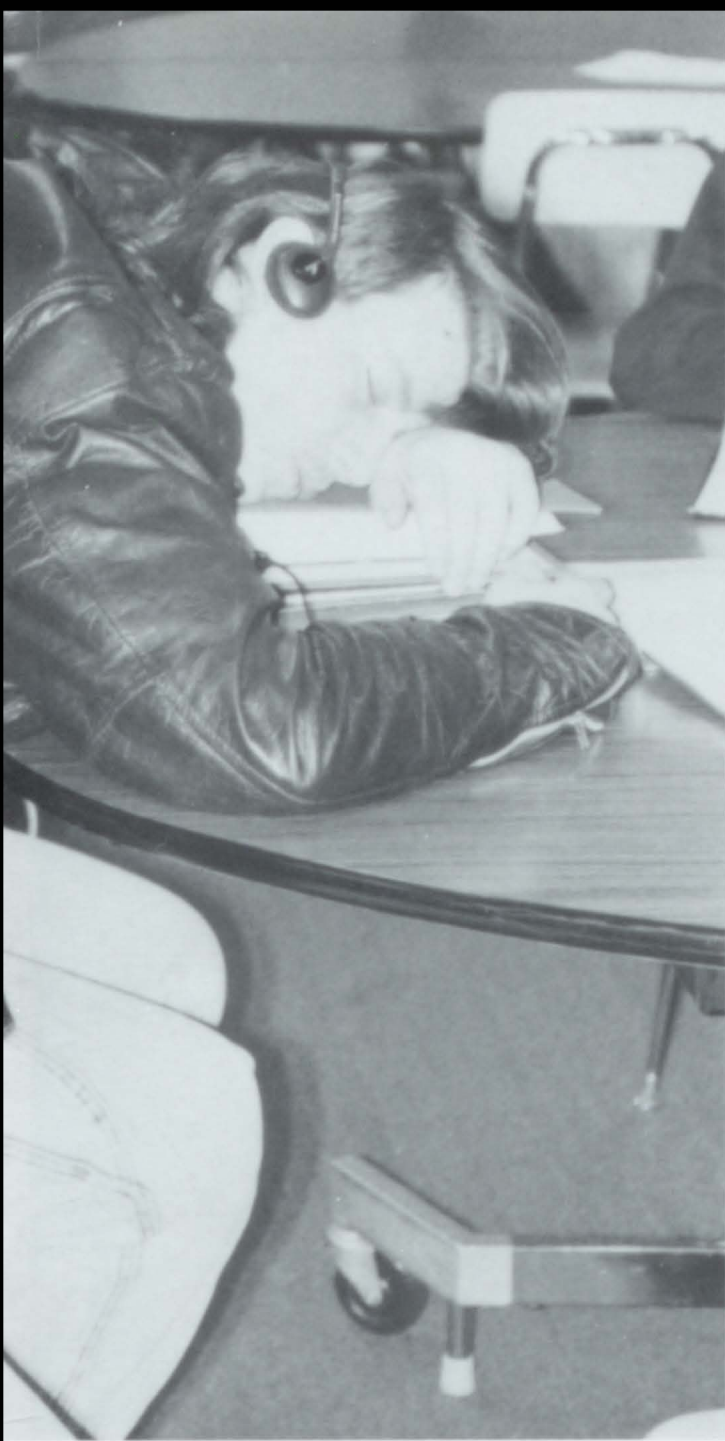

Well, unfortunately, South Spencer High School does not provide housing accommodations. This would be something that some of the students might actually consider out of desperation for a good night's sleep. Especially when some people spend most of their time driving to school and staying there anyway. (Just joking!)

SPECTACULAR

Everyone looks forward to the holidays! Why? I think everyone knows the answer to that question. Everyone looks forward to the holidays for different reasons. Some people just look forward to spending time with family and friends, other people look forward to the extended break from school that often comes along with the holidays, and of course there are presents. Often, though, it is an accumulation of all these things. At any rate, the holidays are a wonderful time that everyone seems to love.

Left: Kristina Evans is in love with the flowers she has and probably with her boyfriend too.

It is a good thing that there are many different holidays. People enjoy Thanksgiving, Christmas, Valentines Day, Saint Patrick's Day, Easter, and often, what is not always a holiday to anyone else, but always has a priority at high as a holiday is Spring Break.

Holiday celebrations differ from family to family, but they are often the same when it comes to school and friends. Right before Christmas it is always exciting to see what presents your friends have been nice enough to bring to you, and what kind of parties you will have in all your classes the day before your vacation. This is all a very important tradition here before a vacation.

Then as Valentines Day approaches, there are many flowers and balloons in the hands of many. Everyone waits for the arrival of the gifts that your loved one is going to send to you. This holiday is the holiday of love, symbolized by the popular red rose that can sweep any girl off her feet.

Then, what is nonexistent to many, but holds a value as high as a national holiday to all students is Spring Break. This holiday can be easily recognized as many of the people anticipate a trip to Florida. This is the favorite vacation spot for many of the Seniors, and will continue to be.

So hopefully everyone will continue to enjoy the holidays.

Semi-State

BOUND

South Spencer High School in the winter months is the perfect example of Hoosier Hysteria. The adrenalin is flowing and everyone is always excited for the next victory our Rebel basketball team is going to bring us. This year we took our luck and our talent to the limit when we took a second trip to the Semi-State competition in Terra Haute.

consecutive season that our Rebels have been ranked in the state and have competed in this game to represent all of southern Indiana.

To get this far in the season, our team was victorious in the Booneville Sectional by a win over Booneville, Gibson southern, and an exciting game between the Princeton Tigers that drew a near sell out crowd. Then, we took a road trip to Roberts Stadium in Evansville where our team was to face Central and then with a win we played the Vincennes Alices. This proved to be another close game with a score of 38 to 37 in five overtimes. But, once again the Rebels came out on top. The crowd was roaring and the team was ready for their next stop: the Semi-State game. Our first opponent was Bloomfield. But, this time, the crowd left the gym, not cheering, but many with tears in their eyes, as our basketball season came to a close. Maybe we lost because we didn't have Kent Ayer, a starting player, or maybe it was the referees. However, it doesn't really matter, because we are proud of our Rebels and we are behind them 100 percent.

Prom NIGHT

Prom night! This has probably been the most expensive night of our young lives so far. The preparations for this one night start months and even years in advance. As underclassmen we start out with many, many fundraisers to get enough money raised to decorate the gymnasium for our one magical night. Then, months in advance, all the girls start going from boutique to boutique looking for the perfect dress. Whether it be beaded, sequined, or lace, the dress just has to be absolutely perfect. Then, only weeks in advance, the men look for a tux, girls buy flowers and jewelry, and make hair appointments.

Some people even go as far as to rent limos and make reservations at some of the most expensive restaurants in our area. Whatever extremes that we go to, everyone makes sure that this will be the most memorable night of our lives.

Then, the big night finally comes. School gets out early, but it is constant confusion and rush to get ready for your date.

The night just seems to fly by, as everyone goes out to dinner, and gets back to the school for the Grand March, a showcase of couples. Then, it is down to a very elaborate and almost unrecognizable gymnasium where we dance the night away.

End of THE ROAD

GRADUATION -- The day that everyone either looks forward to or dreads. Some people get excited about the last day of school, because it is the last time they will have to study or go to school ever again. Other people are sad about graduation because they know that it is the last time they will ever see some of their friends again. Nothing will ever be the same again after May 28, 1994.

After graduation, the class of 1994 will go their separate ways. Some people will continue their education and go to college, while others will go out into the work force and get a job. However, one thing is sure. The students will not have their school as their safe harbor away from the rest of the world.

However, the class of '94 is a very intelligent and responsible class. The students of this class have the potential to be a group of very successful people. There will be doctors and lawyers and engineers. This class deserves the very best of luck for the future, but for now, this class has come to the "End of the Road" as they complete their high school career. High school has been great, and there are many great memories, but the world keeps turning and life will go on. The class of 1994 will meet again, but this time in the year 1999 for their five year class reunion, and then again go our separate ways.

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1994!

Student Leaders

In December, the annual National Honor Society Induction Ceremony was held.

Twenty-nine members were inducted. They were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The students inducted are also active in the community, school, and maintain at least a cumulative grade point average of 3.0

The NHS as a group helps to raise funds for charities, presents scholarships and dedicates time to the community. Each member volunteers one hour a week to community service.

The NHS usually chooses a teacher or staff member to become an honorary member of the NHS. This year the NHS chose to posthumously honor Mr. Robert Cochenour who taught 34 years at South Spencer High School.

Mr. Cochenour was fifty-five years of age and died on November 6, just a few months after his retirement.

After the induction ceremonies Mr.

Al Logsdon, former principal, gave the speech.

The student council is another organization that promotes leadership. Its members are active in planning and sponsoring special events that take place at school.

The council plans the homecoming dances and purchases the crowns and flowers for the ceremonies.

During the Christmas season the council visits the local nursing home and sings carols. They are also active at school during the holiday season. Members of the council put up and decorate the Christmas tree in the main hall. Besides merely decorating, they also help others by conducting a food drive.

In the spring they host a breakfast for the teaching staff.

Competing Academically

When people think about after school competition the first thing that comes to mind is sports. Yet when you think about it academics are just as essential to the school as athletics are. Being an academic team member takes several qualities such as, time and dedication.

The academic teams and their coach Mrs. Deliah Purviance have come upon some difficult times lately. Last year right in the middle of the season, Mrs. Purviance decided to give birth to her daughter Rachel. The event was a joyous occasion for all, but it made it more difficult for Mrs. Purviance to get to meetings.

Then this year Mrs. Purviance just could not resist a challenge. She was not pregnant, but she did manage to break not one ankle, but two ankles.

Considering Mrs. Purviance had an unfortunate accident, overall, the teams did well. Mr. Wood, coach of the math team, and Mrs. Meyer served as assistants to Mrs. Purviance while she was injured.

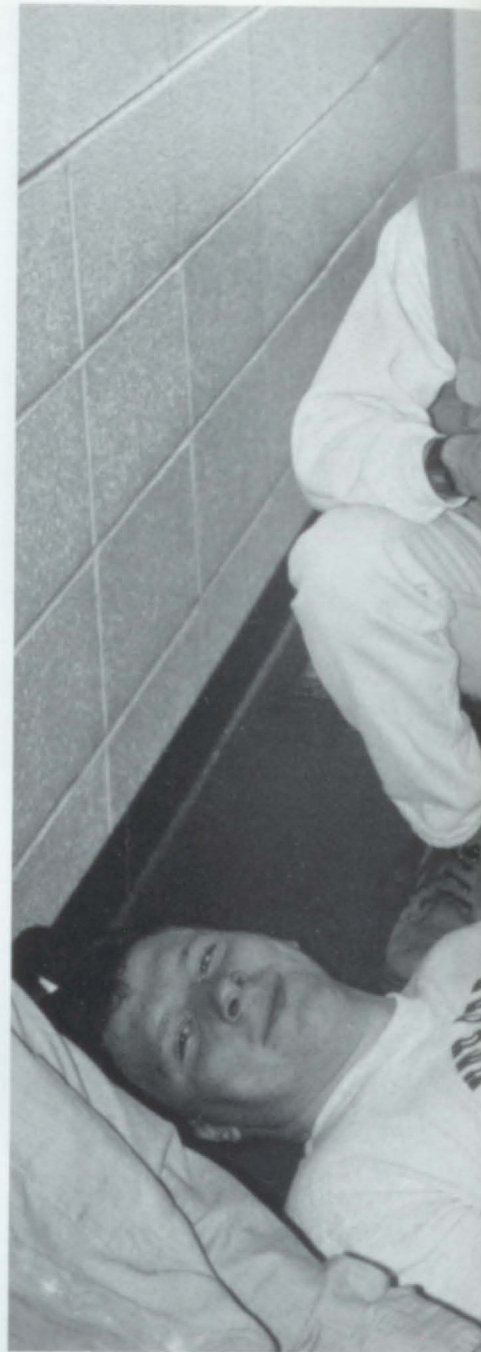

The academic teams had two meets. The first meet was at Southridge, which was the PAC meet. Some teams went into the meet without any practices and the results showed it.

The second competition, at Bosse, showed improvement for most teams. For example, the interdisciplinary team placed second in our class.

The theme this year was "The Era of Man and the Moon: 1957-1972." For the English team, the subject was rather difficult. Mike Barclay said, "English was difficult because it covered a wide variety of our English culture, which required us to have a high intelligence and a good understanding of our history."

The Spell Bowl Team competed again this year and received last place.

Capable Publishers

This year is a great year for the two journalism classes. The new computers have helped us in ways that we could have never imagined.

We now have six computers dedicated to designing our Spencerian and Bugle. The Bugle staff has enlarged greatly from last year's staff, and our yearbook staff is still bigger than ever.

We now have CD Rom throughout the school, which gives us a tremendous amount of knowledge by supplying most every piece of information we need.

It has a complete set of encyclopedias and has information on such events as the Assassination of J.F.K. and Mark Twain's life.

Jennifer Morgan has been on the newspaper staff, for the past three years. She is now the editor, and is thinking about majoring in journalism. Jennifer says, "In the three years I have been on staff, I have noticed a tremendous change in our newspaper. This year we have more computers and this allows everyone on staff to get a hands-on experience in creating a newspaper. With more people on staff and new technology, our newspaper has improved."

Stacey Wright has been on the yearbook staff for the past four years. She has been the editor since her junior year and has devoted much of her time to make the yearbook a success. Stacey says, "With the addition of the new computer system, it has become easier to create a better and more accurate yearbook publication. Stacey plans to attend Indiana University after high school.

Dependable Workers

Study hall to some students is a time to goof off; some people use it to study, but there are a few students who use their study hall to work in the office.

Anyone who works in the office has to have a high tolerance for pandemonium.

Students who work in the office, have a great deal of responsibility on their hands. They have to answer the phones and take messages, copy papers, collect absence slips, and run errands.

Verlita Miller and Robyn Wood began working in the office this year. Verlita says, "My most embarrassing moment was when I had to use the intercom to call a student to the office."

Robyn says, "The best part of working in the office, is that I can catch people skipping."

Robyn says, "The funniest thing that has ever happened, was when I had to tell someone that they had a phone call when they were using the bathroom."

Those students who choose to work in the library also have a great deal of responsibility on their hands.

Since the school has CD Rom, the library workers must have computer skills to show other students how to use the program.

The library workers check books in and out, shelf books and magazines, make copies for students and teachers, and help with inventory.

Students who work in the library learn many skills for the future. They learn to use the library correctly, skills of being conscientious, and most importantly, they learn a sense of responsibility.

Friends Helping Friends

How would you like to live in a world where you didn't have to be someone you are not? To be yourself, and not care what other people think of you. That's what Snowball is like. It's a place where no matter who you are, or what kind of problems life throws in your face, you have someone to listen to you, and love you.

Southern Indiana Operation Snowball brings together teenagers and adults in a cooperative effort to prevent chemical and alcohol dependency and other kinds of destructive behaviors.

I experienced some great things at Snowball. Snowball helped me build my self-esteem, and to not care what other people think of me.

Snowball is also a place to find out who you really are. I discovered many things I never knew about myself. I talked to people I would have been embarrassed to talk to at school. I realized I shouldn't judge people on the kind of problems they have, because I found out, that instead of judging them, I could be helping them. I could make a difference in their life, and actually be their only friend.

Going to Snowball was one of the best decisions I've made this year. I thought it was not for me, because I didn't have any problems. Was I wrong!

At Snowball you can express your feelings and be yourself, and not care what other people think of you. You don't have to hide behind a mask, unlike most of us do at school.

Snowball wasn't just about talking about our problems. We had good, clean fun. We had a dance every night, played stupid games, and slept maybe four to six hours, if that!! - by Me'Chele Knight.

Being a marching Rebel is no easy task. The season starts off in June with one week of guard camp and continues on into band camp for two weeks. The band members stretch, exercise, learn their drill and their music from 7:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. From there they go home for an hour and then return to practice until 8:00. After many hard practices the band along with their instructors, feel they are ready Band 36 for competition. The school sponsors a fund raising ice cream social to better prepare the Marching Rebels and to provide entertainment for the crowd. Now it is time for the first competition at Tell City. The Rebels placed just as they thought they would. The band went home with a first place, best auxiliary and percussion. Throughout the season, the band and the guard attended many more scheduled and unscheduled practices to "clean up" the show for future contests. The Marching Rebels continued to improve and did very well in their next two contests, bringing home two second place trophies and trophies for other various categories. The band went on to District after placing fourth in the Castle Invitational. At District, the Rebels played and marched well and received a Division I rating. The

The band put everything into their performance and felt that they had never played better. After what seemed like forever the field commanders were called onto the field. The judges thanked everyone for their participation, but all of the members were too anxious for the results to listen to the announcer. Finally, the results were announced. When South Spencer was announced, the crowd hushed and everyone was listening very intensely. The announcer paused and then went on to say "Division II." Every individual felt a loss and were extremely disappointed. Spirited Spectacular

The music department has come along way over the years. Rebel Jazz, the pep band and the stage band have gained more members over the years, and they have influenced school spirit.

The 1993-94 Rebel Jazz team has started off on a good foot. This year they had 24 girls on the squad and are trying to improve from last year. This year they are trying to get the crowd into their dances and are using props to keep the crowd entertained.

They had a dance camp during this summer, in which they taught young girls how to dance. "The dance camp that we hosted was great! All the little girls were so much fun to be around. It was something, because most of them picked up the dances pretty quickly," said Katie Young.

This year the Rebel Jazz attended the University of Evansville Acettes dance competition, in which they placed third.

This year they have several new captains, in which help teach the girls the new dances. The captains are, Head Captains- Shandalyn Fuller, Andrea Tuley. Drill Captains- Stephanie Girten, Katie Young, Amanda Grose.

The stage band this year was better than ever. Mr. David Hughes was the director this year and has been a great influence not only in stage band, but with the entire band.

Then we have the pep band, which provides a tremendous amount of school spirit. They influence the students to join in cheering and they provide the crowd with entertainment.

This year for the sectionals Mr. Metzger had something different in mind for the pep band. This year the pep band marched through the halls playing the school song, while the student body followed behind.

Musically Talented

Playing a musical instrument or singing does not appeal to everyone. Although there are people who do not enjoy music, there are those whose lives practically evolve around music.

Not only do the Rebel Singers and the concert band entertain people, they also compete in contests. This year was a fantastic year for both the Rebel Singers and the concert band.

Students who received a first place rating in instrumental music were the saxophone trio: Sarah Wathen, Christina Sandage, and Jenny Wade; the flute quartet: Crystal Frakes, Andrea Tuley, Amanda Grose, and Katie Young.

This year the percussion section took two ensembles to state and they both received a first place rating. Those involved in the percussion ensembles were: Tammi Piper, Clint Wetherill, Jenny Sullivan, Me'Chele Knight, Hilary Houck, Jarrod Hedrick, Jay Burden, John King, and Shad McDurmon. Christina Sandage took two solos to state and received a first and second rating.

This year the concert band went to Reitz and received a first in sightreading and a second in playing.

The Rebel Singers performed at Reitz this year, and they received a first in sightreading and singing. This year a ladies' choir, made up of selected girls, went to Reitz and received a second place rating.

Jenny Wade and Debbi Crutchfield performed solos at state and they both received a first place rating.

Jenny Wade and Rick Hawkins were among the six students from our school to audition for All State Choir. They auditioned with everyone in the region and were chosen to be apart of the All State Choir. Students were judged on how well they performed their selected piece and the piece they were given to sightread.

Theatrical Showcase

The theatre season this year consisted of two productions, a play in the fall and a musical in the spring.

The three act fall play, Stardust, reminded one of the television series Fame, since it took place at a dramatic arts school. It contained all the standard elements of a light-hearted comedy.

Seniors Jennifer Morgan, Jenny Wade, Angie Garrett, and Brandy Mayfield were the only four seniors in a cast that was mostly underclassmen.

The spring musical this year was The Sound of Music. This year's cast consisted of not only high school students, but grade school students as well.

It all started in January with try outs. Since grade school students had not had parts in a high school musical, we were all interested in how it would work out. Practices started in early February with songs and sets. Before we knew it, time was flying by and new friendships were beginning to form. Who could help but just fall in love with little Katie Hutchison?

After three months of hard work, including Saturdays and late nights, it was all over in three nights. While the audience was laughing at cast members on stage, cast and crew members were laughing back stage at Jenny Wade and Clayton Moore head banging to "These Are A Few of My Favorite Things".

For some this was the last musical they would ever be in. The cast consisted of eleven seniors. Ericka Mayne and Shad McDurmon held the leading roles. These two will be missed just like all the seniors.

This year South Spencer has taken one giant leap in the field of technology with all the new computer systems that our school received.

Julie Street seems to get along really well with one of the preschoolers, Matthew Bretz, that attended the daycare project that the home ec class sponsored.

This new technology along with Advanced Placement Biology, College Credit Chemistry, Advanced Placement Calculus, and College Credit English are what will give South Spencer graduates an edge over students from other schools in our area.

Have

originality

Creativity comes in many forms. Some people express themselves through art and others choose design.

Art is a class in which students can express their thoughts and feelings, by doing paintings, drawings, and sculptures. This year they have accomplished many styles and forms of art. They have made perspective drawings, clay sculptures, mobiles, totem poles, air brush designs and pastel work.

Some of these were displayed in the hallway, library, and pool windows. As one can see, Mr. Sitzman's students work very hard on their accomplishments. Several students also displayed their work earlier this year at the Spencer County 4-H Center. This display was in conjunction with the Lincoln Hills Art and Craft Association Exhibit. Future Art students have lots to look forward to.

Not all creative work is limited to the field of art. To entertain and take care of children requires a special kind of creativity. Each year the home economics department runs a daycare center. Children from around the community sign up to be a part of the daycare program. The daycare program lasts for four weeks. The children come three times a week, for one hour.

The students in the home economics class do various activities to keep the children active. They played games and made various art projects with the children.

At the end of the four week period, the home economics class planned a special graduation ceremony for their new little friends. All decked out with their homemade graduation caps on, they proudly sang the new songs they learned for their parents as they accepted their diplomas.

The daycare program has been a learning experience for both the students and the children. For the children, the daycare was a place to make new friends. For the students, the daycare was a place to learn the responsibility that comes with a child.

Find solutions

Observation, design and experiment, hypothesis, data gathering and conclusions are the steps the scientist takes.

Math and science are two subjects that require two or more years to get into college.

The ability to work with a graphics calculator is required to take the upper level math class such as pre-calculus and calculus.

But if you think learning the formulas and how to use them is hard, what about teaching the class? Mr. Bill Wood, who teaches geometry, pre-calculus and calculus says that he does not find it very difficult to teach the subject, but the knowledge of the subject can be complicated if you don't know it.

You may also wonder why some guys seem to be better in math than girls. Although in his highest math class Mr. Wood has all boys, he does not believe that boys are better than girls. He says girls are better at the skills of math and when it comes to problem solving guys are a little stronger.

One science class such as chemistry is a fun class to take if you like to learn about different chemical reactions. Some of the general experiments in chemistry focus mainly on two basic laws: law of conservation of mass and law of conservation of energy. Some of the fun experiments consist of acids and bases, explosions and combustable things.

Two other science classes are microbiology and A.P. biology. Mr. P.M. Sanders who teaches both classes says there are twelve experiments that are required by A.P. biology, some of which have to do with bacterial transformations and DNA fingerprinting. One thing that can be difficult for students is that there are so many new terms that have to be learned.

This is the second year for microbiology in which the first semester is spent mostly with bacteria and microorganisms. Microbiology is an ideal class for someone going into the health field.

Into

the future

We live in the world of computers and will have to master technology in order to succeed in the next century.

The South Spencer High School technology program is one of the best programs in Southern Indiana. The classes are small and student oriented. The students work in small groups together and the instructors are resource people. The students get hands on experience with the technology and the innovations of today. Problem solving is very important. The instructors use monitoring T.V. screens to aid in teaching either groups of students or for one on one teaching.

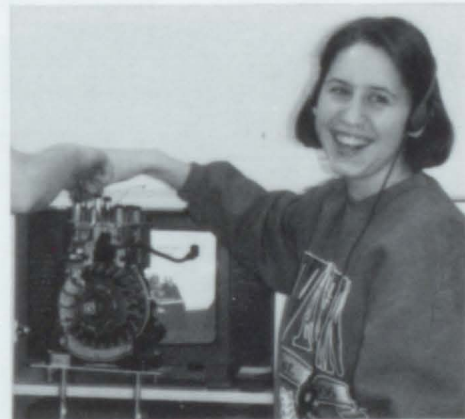

These classes are designed to develop marketable skills. These skills are not for a specific job, but the flexibility to handle many jobs. The skills that are learned here are comparable to the skills learned in Ivy Tech. This year the South Spencer High School Technology Department had the honor of letting Ivy Tech use our facilities to teach continuing education classes for those people taking degree programs. This only shows how vast our resources are here.

Here are the courses that are offered at South Spencer High School: autocad, introduction to manufacturing technology, energy systems, introduction to technology educations, electricity, drafting, and woods. Next year a course in Applied Physics will be offered.

There are several specific areas covered in the classes that are on the cutting edge of technology. For example, computerized numerical control machines, robotics, programmable logic controller, industrial sensors - including fiber optics, pneumatics, hydraulics, audio/video, and small engines.

A person who has been greatly responsible for the changes in the technology program is leaving the staff. Mr. Jerry Arteberry is retiring and he will be greatly missed. Throughout the years he has been a tremendous influence on the students here at South Spencer.

Get in shape

Staying physically in shape helps a student's mind stay alert and in focus, as well contributing to better health.

How to save a life and how to add to the quality of your life are two things a student can learn in health and physical education classes.

What would you do to help a person who was no longer breathing? You would probably know the answer if you would have had CPR training in health class.

For one week a paramedic instructs and tests the class in CPR. For two days the students listen to lectures about what to do. On the third day they are shown what to do with the use of "Annie". Annie is a dummy that paramedics use to demonstrate CPR techniques. Then students take a written test and a practical test using the dummy. If the student passes the written test and the practical test then he is certified to perform CPR for a period of one year.

A person never knows when their child or little brother or sister might fall into water that is over his head. Knowing what to do could just possibly save someone's life.

In health classes students also learn how to perform simple first aid and they learn about the effects of drugs and alcohol. In total the types of things a student learns in health class can contribute to living a better life.

Physical education can contribute to a better body and the ability to lead a longer, healthier, and stress free life. In PE students learn activities they can participate in all their lives that can actually improve the quality of their life.

A person will be more likely to take up a sport if they know the rules of the sport and the fundamental skills needed. Weight training has become in vogue throughout the nation and high school students can learn how to do it correctly, so they can stay in shape for life. Athletes, both male and female workout in the weight room as well as both male and female coaches and teachers.

So you say you want to take college credit English? That's what Mark Ward thought when he signed up!

Frohliche Wethnachten says Julie Butcher as she bakes a cake for her German class Christmas party.

Into

language

No matter if we study French, German, or English our ideas are shaped by the words we know. Studying language helps us to mold our ideas.

Here at South Spencer High School there are an array of language arts courses a student can choose: German, French, speech, journalism, and various English classes, including college credit English.

One semester of speech and four years of English are required at South Spencer, but German and French are both optional.

In the spring, Mrs. Delilah Perviance's French students celebrated Mardi Gras by eating French cuisines. Some students really got into the festive mood by making Mardi Gras masks.

Shortly after, Mrs. Perviance took a nasty spell down the steps in her home. She broke one ankle and sprained the other, having to miss three full weeks of school! When she came back, we were all glad to see her - even though we all had to take turns pushing her wheelchair down the halls!

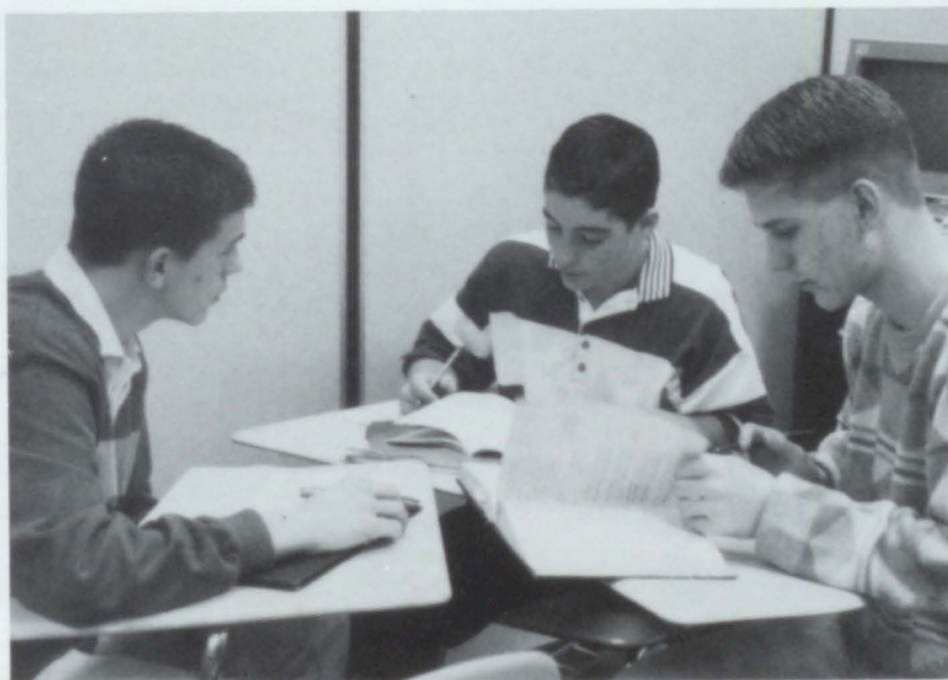

The German students also had a taste of their own kind. Mrs. Vera Meyer's German IV students prepared an entire German meal for themselves and the German III students. Everything turned out great, but we soon found out Germans use a lot of vinegar in their food!

Ms. York's college credit English class has been a great success. This is the third year for the college credit English class here at South Spencer.

The class is offered through Indiana University and the credit can be transferred most anywhere. This year the two classes took a trip to IU in December. While there, they toured the library and spent the afternoon doing research for their finals.

At first the students were in awe by the size of a BIG TEN library, but they soon found that they were well prepared to meet the challenges of university research. By the end of the day all of them had found needed information.

French students Laura Arnold, Nicholle Edwards, Krista Westfall, Cara Bailey, and Jennifer Dragoo are going incognito for Mardi Gras.

Make

choices

Current events, business law, government, elections are all part of the adult world we must confront.

Our nation is a vast land of numerous people with a rich cultural history. Being founded on a democracy the United States of America has been the inspiration for countries around the world. Now that the U.S. has become a world power, it is very important for us to learn as much about ourselves as possible. Without the social studies and business class many students may have lived their lives without ever reading the constitution or understanding their tax forms.

South Spencer provides a great social studies department which has classes in history, government, economics, world history, and world geography. For years these classes have taught us not only about the world that surrounds us, but about the history of our ancestors also. Great teachers such as John Jolly, Neal Thomas, and Todd Stoermer have been successful at making each of these classes a great experience for students.

This is Todd Stoermer's first year. He took over Mr. Cochenour's classes, after student teaching last year.

His mentor teacher is Neal Thomas who has served as a mentor to a vast number of students and teachers throughout the years.

John Jolly will be "graduating" with the senior class this year and many will be sad to see him go. His many years of teaching have been wonderful for us all.

Besides providing a great social studies department, South Spencer's Business Department is also growing. Classes such as, computerized accounting, introduction to business, and business law help students to get a head start on the complicated functions of the business world.

Our two teachers in the Business Department are Raymond Dawson and Jackie Ray. Jackie Ray is another new addition to the South Spencer staff, taking over Mr. Rothrock's classes.

I Davie Greene, do solemnly swear...to do anything Chad Smith tells me to do.

Students who achieve a grade point average of 3.5 earn the honor of attending the academic banquet

In order to attend the annual spring academic honor banquet, a student must have a grade point average of 3.5 for the first semester.

The yearly event is one of the largest and best attended banquets of the school year, because most students have many proud family members in attendance to help honor them.

The highlight of this year's banquet was the after-dinner speech presented by Mr. John Jolly. Students and other audience members were mesmerized by Mr. Jolly's tie and sports coat. Of course the message he had to deliver was important. However, most of us rarely have the opportunity to see Mr. Jolly wearing a coat and tie. Students were trying to decide if the color of his jacket would be described as mint green or aqua. His coordinating iridescent tie couldn't help but catch our eyes with its various shades of blue and green.

Mr. Jolly publicly announced to us all that this was a rare occasion we were witnessing. Many of us compared it to the privilege of viewing a total eclipse of the sun.

Since this was the last year Mr. Jolly would be teaching, audience members paid particularly close attention to the message of his address besides being impressed with his dress.

Anyone who has had class with Mr. Jolly knows that he loves to talk about his fishing and leisure time (probably more than he likes teaching about the cold war and the Depression). John Jolly admits that his true love in life is not fishing or leisure time. The love of Mr. Jolly's life is kids. Watching young men and women come in and out of his class, some moving on to better places, makes Mr. Jolly's job worthwhile.

Many of the parents sitting in the audience had Mr. Jolly as their history teacher when they were in school. Therefore, his message seemed to relate equally to the students and parents in attendance.

Even though Mr. Jolly calls himself the old man, he seems far from old to all of us and the reality of his retirement has not yet hit.

After Mr. Jolly's speech, Mr. Metzger awarded certificates and plaques to those students who persevered in their studies.

UP & down season

Rebels, Rebels, Rebels, we are the mighty Rebels! Cheerleaders chanted as eager fans waited for the 1993 gridders to take the field. On the road at Gibson Southern, South Spencer would take 13 veteran players into battle.

Anxious players and coaches were ready to test their skills against a tough opponent. The Titans proved just that, as South Spencer prevailed 14-7. The win was a step in the right direction and was the start of a five game winning streak.

After a shakey start, the Rebels dominated the next four opponents, but the toughest part of the schedule was still ahead. Looming on the horizon were games with Jasper, North Posey and Heritage Hills.

The Jasper game was a historic first meeting between traditional football powers. The Rebels played well and held a late lead, only to fall to a last minute Jasper comeback.

This was a big disappointment for our team. Their undefeated record and #4 state ranking were gone. Now the Rebels had to regroup for a conference game against tough North Posey.

North Posey was once-beaten and loaded with talent. On a wet and muddy field, the Rebels were forced to play without three starters. The Rebels never caught the spark they needed and fell to another fourth quarter comeback.

Week eight brought the best team on the schedule to Reo, the Heritage Hills Patriots. The game was close and very exciting. A capacity crowd saw the Rebels lose 25-12 and end their regular season with a 5-3 record.

The playoffs began a new season, but the opponent was the same team which opened the Rebel campaign. South Spencer met Gibson Southern on the road again. The Titans threw a long pass late in the first half to take a 13-7 lead. Neither team scored in the second half and the game ended with that same score. The Rebels ended a disappointing season at 5-4.

Despite the disappointing record, Rebel gridders did receive several post-season honors. Named to the P.A.C. All Conference team were Eric Gardner, Robert Shields, Charlie Reddor and Chad Goldman.

Also, receiving honorable mention on the team were Jay Burden, Joey Ling, Clayton Moore and Aaron Wilson.

Eric Gardner was named to the Coaches' 2A All-State Team. Eric and Robert Shields were listed on the Region 9 Junkyard Dawgs Defensive Team.

"The highlight of the season was beating Tecumseh 51-21, because they thought they had a shot of beating us. They also had little respect for us, but we rose to the occasion and played perhaps the best game of the year."

Strategic Serving

Volleyball is growing every year in all parts of the country. Sand volleyball is becoming more popular everywhere and with the increased television coverage of college teams and the Olympic teams doing well, more athletes are looking to get involved in programs to help further their educational opportunities. It's becoming the same at South Spencer.

While most were relaxing and enjoying their summer vacation, the Lady Rebels were working hard preparing for volleyball season. The team was off to a good start winning two of the first three games. Throughout the season, they won a few key games but they still lacked confidence. The Lady Rebels finished the season 9-14. Two players, Nancy Wolford and Amy Sitzman were selected to the All - PAC Honorable Mention Volleyball Team.

Evie Wildeman, in her third year as head coach, said "We have a good group of athletes. We improved in many areas most importantly in experience. The girls know more about the game now; instead of just defense and returning the ball, we're now setting up and running an offense and playing our own game." She adds, "We are using more strategy to place the ball with serving, hitting and dumping."

The Lady Rebels are continuing to build a good program. Among this year's accomplishments were several broken records, mainly in the serving categories.

Captains Nancy Wolford scored 384 career points and broke several other records. Statistically, sophomore Amy Sitzman led the team in service points, aces, and blocks, while junior Nicole Coomes led the team in kills, and sophomore Julie Butcher led the team in serve percent.

"I think this season's accomplishments were a key factor in the building of our volleyball program. Although we didn't finish with an outstanding record, we improved our volleyball game tremendously!" - Nancy Wolford

Individual Initiative

Cross Country

Picture this: it's 100 degrees and the sun is beating down on the back of your neck and the air is so thick with humidity that you can hardly breathe, not a pretty picture is it? Well, unfortunately for some very dedicated runners of the cross country team this picture became reality when practice began in late August. However, this year the team expanded in the number of runners, even though the running conditions were not picture perfect!

After school began and the season got started the temperatures soon fell to a cool seventy degrees which made the team members more enthusiastic about going to practice after school and facing the 2.6 to 3.1 miles of sheer pleasure.

When, the runners were asked why they wanted to participate in such a sport, many answered with the same response: to get in condition for winter sports. However there were a few runners who took a different view because they ran to accomplish personal goals and pushed themselves to the limit; these individuals felt as if they had the mental toughness to be a runner.

" Being in cross country helped me to realize my limitations and enabled me to set and accomplish my goals."

Golf

This year's golf team started off with high hopes and great expectations. The team began the season with three wins: the Southridge Inv., Gibson Southern / North Posey, and Tell City.

The team started the season of right at the Huntingburg Invitational by placing first. Chris Holstein was a medalist and shot a 72.

At the Southmont Inv. the team placed 5th out of 19. Out of 95 individuals Chris Holstein placed 5th, shooting 77.

On May 21, the team traveled to Christmas Lake Village to compete in PAC's. The team placed 4th in PAC's.

Since the team is young they still have time to complete many goals. The team consisted of four juniors Chris Holstein, Mike Mathews, Brian Guth, and Andy Seitz, one sophomore, Brian Jesse, and three freshmen, Adam Broeker, Eddie Carter, and Clint Wetherill.

Even though the team is young they have some good experienced players. The teams average was 178 for 9 holes.

The team has high hopes and looks forward to many more golf seasons. To these guys golf is not just another sport, but something they will be doing for many, many years to come.

Boys' Tennis

The boys' tennis team did really good in their third year. The season's highlight was beating Springs Valley and Evansville Reitz. Since this is only the third year victories have been far and few so these wins really excited the team.

Coach Todd Stoermer feels that the team has really improved and will continue to improve.

Senior Paul Hinson was this year's number one single, and Holt Hedrick and Kevin Bockelman were the number one doubles. Rodney Stephens and Michael Matthews were the number two doubles and hold the record for the most matches won, four.

Coach Stoermer said the team is young and looks for even better years to come.

Member of the boys' tennis team were seniors: Paul Hinson and Kurtis Kelly; juniors: Wes Graf, Rodney

Girls' Tennis

When the girls' tennis season started this year it once again brought another new coach. This year David Payne, was the coach that brought many new changes with him. For example, one big change for the girls was the fact that conditioning started a whole month before they were allowed to use their rackets in practice. However, it seems these girls were quite comfortable with change considering, ever since the girls' tennis program started, they have had to face a new and different coach with the coming of each season.

Since this was the third year for the girls' program the wins did not outnumber the losses, but Christina Sandage didn't let that stop her. Christina went on to the first round of Regionals in singles.

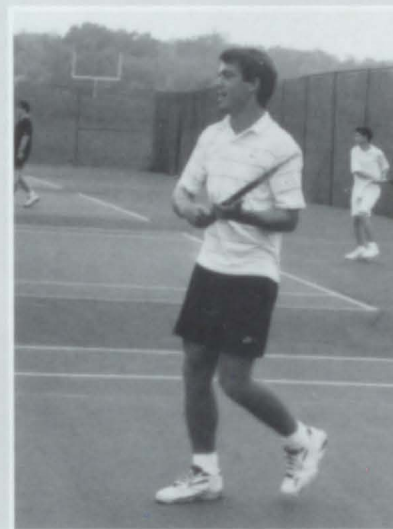

"As a senior I always felt a need to set an example by doing my best in all my matches."

Splashing Sensations

Girls' Swim Team

"All of us occasionally lose, but we're never beaten until we quit," or "It doesn't matter if you have the lead as long as you have the heart to come from behind". These were the mottoes that appeared on the back of the girls' swim team's shirt.

The girls did not win a meet this year, but came very close. The girls came within points of beating Boonville at an away meet and tied with them at a home meet.

Regardless of the win / loss record, no one could accuse them of having a losing attitude. No matter what the outlook all the girls were there cheering on their fellow teammates.

The girls' team consisted of fifteen girls: three seniors, Jenny Wade, Gretchen Garrett, and Ericka Mayne; five juniors: Melissa Brauns, Amanda Grose, Monica Winchester, Lori Stephens, and Julie Street; three sophomores: Cara Robinson, Karen Hall, and Jennifer Gibbs, and three freshmen Erica Driskell, Jennifer Thomas, and Valarie Bryant.

Two of the girls went on to compete in a swim league in Newburgh, Jennifer Gibbs and Jennifer Thomas.

With more girls coming into the program the girls' swim team looks to be very promising in the future.

Boys' Swim Team

The boys' team started the year with hopes for individual improvement. With only ten members the team was limited to what they could do. Coach Rick Mayne said, "We concentrated on individual improvement and making it in the PAC's and Sectional."

The team consisted of three seniors: John Wetherill, Steve Lawrence, and Brian Thorpe; two juniors: Wes Graf and Jason Bowers; four sophomores: Willy Mallory, Scott Payne, Tim Stafford, and Patrick Mullican.

After just a few practices the team was limited to just seven players; three of the original ten decided swimming wasn't for them.

Even with the small numbers the team was still able to make individual improvements. The guys improved their time at every meet.

Wes Graf was this year's main diver and was expected to do well in sectionals until he had an unfortunate accident. At PAC's Wes did a back flip and hit his face and body on the board. He only suffered from minor scrapes, bruises, and a major headache.

"Swimming is a team sport that takes a lot of individual effort, hard work, and determination. With the growing numbers I think the swim team will become very successful."

Record victories

The South Spencer Lady Rebels were at another height this year with fourteen wins and four losses. This was the most games ever won by the girls' team during regular season.

The Lady Rebels were led this year by senior Nancy Wolford and junior Nicole Coomes. Like the boys' team, the girls broke a few of their own records.

Junior, Nicole Coomes, broke the school scoring record during the Pike Central game by scoring 31 points. When asked how she made such a feat, Nicole replied, "It's gotta be the shoes!"

The girls also won their first PAC title by defeating the North Posey Vikings. The key to this success was running the ball and execution. Running with the ball was also a strength of the team.

The starters for the varsity were Nancy Wolford, Melissa Brauns, Nicole Coomes, Ashlee Wilson, and Vanessa Virgin. Other members included Jamie Tooley, Stephanie Daming, Ericka Driskell, Rebecca Meece, and Jodie Olds.

With their fourteen and three season the Lady Rebels still fell short at sectionals. They played Boonville in the first game and lost by two points. Coach John Biggs said, "Defense wins ballgames." That proved to be true in many close games, but not at Boonville.

The team also missed junior, Jamie Tooley, during the regular season. Jamie was out with a ankle injury early on in the season. She was replaced by sophomore, Vanessa Virgin.

The Lady Rebels also had a tremendous amount of help from the remaining five players, all of which were juniors.

Melissa Brauns was dominant in both the rebounding and scoring field. Ashlee Wilson stepped her game up a level, and Jodi Olds, Rebecca Meece and Stephanie Daming did not let the team down when called on.

The team will return several players next year. The only player they will lose is senior, Nancy Wolford. Nancy is an excellent three point shooter, and she will be missed on the team next year.

Although the team will lose Nancy, they also have many things to be looking forward to next year. The team hopes to better their 14-4 record and be a strong competitor in the sectionals.

Whether it be breaking records during the season or at the PAC, the 1993-94 girls' basketball team had a great season to remember!

"We had a positive season. We accomplished a lot of things no other team at S.S. has, but we fell short when it really mattered. Yet, this year has been a major in building our program."

Simply Sensational

Practice, practice, practice! The boys' basketball team had high hopes and great expectations! The team started practicing in late October to get ready for their long, but awaited season.

"This year's team had a lot of potential," said 6'7" senior Travis Smith. "If we work hard, we can accomplish anything." Along with Travis other returning varsity players were 6'3" junior guard Kent Ayer, 6'3" sophomore forward / guard Josh Garrett, 6'0" senior guard Eric Gardner, and 5'9" junior guard Chris Holstein. The team added a new player this year, a 6'8" senior, Spanish foreign exchange student, Emi Morales. He definitely added some height and strength to the Rebels' game. The remaining players were juniors Brian Guth, Ben Broeker, Robbie Zaricki and Trey Harmon.

The boys started their season with four straight wins and ranked third in the area by a local news station.

That was to be expected after last year's sectional and regional wins. South Spencer was ranked around sixteenth in the state.

The Rebels first game against Boonville was a preview of just what kind of action the future held. The Rebels led through most of the game. The final score was 52-36. The Pioneers knew it was over when they were hit with Travis Smith's slam dunk!

The Rebels were struck with a virus that caused them to cancel a game against Harrison. Ten of the teams nineteen players were hit unexpectedly with the illness, all on the same day. The team made a speedy recovery and destroyed the Vikings the following day.

The Rebels destroyed Cannelton with a school breaking record of 113-42. The team had six players in double figures including Kent Ayer, Josh Garrett, Travis Smith, Brian Guth, Emi Morales and Robbie Zaricki. Brian Guth hit an amazing 6 three point shots giving him a career high, 18 points.

Throughout the season there were many moments that stick out in all of our minds, close games, big wins, hard losses and most importantly, back to back sectional and regional wins.

The 1993-94 basketball team finished the season with a record of 20-2.

"There were a lot of high expectations this year, both from fans and coaches. I think our biggest worry was that we wouldn't reach those expectations, but I think everyone was pleased with the result."

Wonderful restlers

On November 23, the wrestling team started its season at home against the Castle Knights.

After a rather exiting season last year, the team had hopes for a winning season. They finished the season with 4 wins, 17 loses, and 1 tie. This was the best record in the four years of the wrestling program. Then at the regional tournament they outscored nine teams.

Four year member, Chris Richey, thinks that through hard work the wrestling team has improved since last year. "I think if they keep working as hard as they have been they will go far," said Chris. Coach Tom Packer said the seniors have shown much leadership. "They have done a good job of being leaders of the team," he replied.

"I think South Spencer athletics have always been competitive and the wrestling team must live up to the standards also. With hard work, dedication, and more participation from the student body, the wrestling team will be very competitive in the near future."

Robert Shields

This year's team consisted of seven seniors: Clayton Moore, Chris Richey, Charlie Reddor, Jay Burden, Kurtis Kelly, Ben Carpenter, and Robert Shields.

This year's wrestling team had many accomplishments. Robert Shields, Jerry Wilson, and Clayton Moore finished 4th in the PAC tourney. Clayton Moore and Shad Stephens finished 3rd at sectionals, and Robert Shields and Jerry Wilson finished 2nd at sectionals.

Robert and Jerry were the first wrestlers to ever qualify for regional competition. Robert went on to place 4th at regionals, which made him an alternate for semi - state.

The junior high now has a wrestling team and it is hoped that this will help build an interest in the high school program.

The girls' track team had somewhat of an off year. With the small numbers it was hard for the girls to win a meet. The girls did not win a meet, but had some personal bests.

The teams' strong points this year were in shot put, discus and hurdles. Leslie Seaton was this year's most valuable player. At PAC's she threw her best in shot put, 32'9 1/2"; her best discus throw was 84'3". Also doing well this year was Andrea Schmidt and first year member

Amanda Grose. These girls did very well in the hurdles. They always stayed right with each other and one was not better than the other. At one meet they had to flip a coin to decide who got 3rd and who got 4th. Another strong member was Amy Sitzman. Amy was also a member of the softball team and only helped out part time. She didn't attend any of the track practices, but still did very well. Between Leslie and her they were able to place 3rd at PAC's.

Mrs. Wahl said she was very impressed and proud of the girls' season. They didn't win any meets, but they did what she asked. Coming into the season she only had two goals for the girls. "I want the girls to be positive, and I want the girls to improve and set goals for their improvement," she said. Mrs. Wahl hopes to spark more interest next season. With a bigger team more things are possible.

It's hard to win

when all the spots aren't filled. There were no sprinters, high jumpers, long jumpers or distance people.

The team included senior Gretchen Garrett, juniors Leslie Seaton, Julie Street, and Amanda Grose, sophomores, Cheyenne McKinney, Erin Smith, Amy Sitzman, and Andrea Schmidt, freshmen Andrea Bruggenschmidt and Cheri Daming.

"Track was always fun and exciting and it kept me on my toes. It was hard to win with so few people, but we had a lot of personal bests."

Hurdling High

Despite the losing season the boys' track team had some very good accomplishments. This year both Ben Broeker and Joe Scaggs advanced to regional competition.

Ben Broeker ran the 800 meter in two minutes and two one hundredths and Joe Scaggs jumped six feet six inches in the high jump. Both Broeker and Scaggs were PAC champs.

Todd Stoermer was the new track coach this year.

He also coached boys' tennis and junior varsity basketball.

At the beginning of the season he said he felt rather intimidated because he had some big shoes to fill when it came to his coaching position. He followed in the footsteps of Steve Sanders who had followed his father P.M. Sanders.

The biggest negative for the track team was its lack of members. For a team to be competitive it needs a high level of participation. "It has been proven that to win track meets, your team must be deep," said Stoermer. He went on to say that too much emphasis has been put on winning in sports today.

Track is divided into two divisions, track and field. The field events consist of the shot put, discus throw, long jump, high jump and pole vault.

The track events are the 100,

200, and 400 meter dashes; the 800, 1600, and 3200 meter runs; high hurdles, 300 meter low hurdles; 4x100 and 16x100 meter relays.

South Spencer's strongest events are the 800 meter and the high jump. Coach Stoermer is hopeful for a more promising season next year and also hopes that the numbers will increase.

Cheering cheers

When most people think of cheerleading they do not believe that it is a sport. Whether or not it is classified as a sport, there is no question that a cheerleader is not an athlete. An athlete is someone that is trained to do exercises of physical agility and strength. The South Spencer Cheer Teams portray these qualities. The season of a cheerleader starts months before the first football game and goes strong until the last game of the basketball season.

After the girls were chosen for the 1993-94 school year, the new cheer teams started practicing for the one week camp that is held every summer at DePauw University. When they returned they had only a couple of days to rest before they started preparing for "Cheer Camp '93" which was held at St. Bernards Catholic School.

Once school started, the cheerleaders began cheering at the football games. They sometimes cheered in the rain and in the cold, but their spirit never died. The football season ended sooner than they had expected, but they were all very excited to see how the basketball season would turn out. The cheerleaders got the opportunity to cheer for back-to-back sectional and regional champions this year. During the madness of all of the games and dinners that they attended, their spirit increased daily. Unfortunately, the girls' season ended with the boys' after traveling to Terre Haute for the first game of Semi-State.

Cheerleaders, like any other athlete, have many responsibilities. They must always have school spirit because they are the ones who get the crowd going during a ballgame and try to keep them going until the end. During the week, when people walk down the hallway, they see signs telling them where every type of game is that week. The cheerleaders even support the teams that they do not cheer for. Cheerleading at the girls' home basketball games, going to support the other activities, making signs, cheering at two games almost every weekend, and having practice on free days does not leave much time for anything else. Somehow our cheerleaders manage to do it all and make time for their schoolwork too.

Phyllis DeWeese is called the cheerleading sponsor by most people, but the girls call her "coach." When asked why, they say, "Because she trains us and that is what a coach does."

"I feel that the best thing about cheerleading is meeting new people every week by traveling to different places. Also, I have made friendships with people on all of the cheer teams."

Coach of the Year

Over Christmas vacation the Varsity Cheerleaders once again traveled to Nashville, TN, for the International Open Cheerleading Championships. After submitting a video tape of their routine in November, and qualifying, the cheerleaders had practice four days a week and sometimes on Saturdays. They even went to ACROS gymnastics, in Evansville, to perfect their routine on Monday nights.

The varsity cheerleading team is not strong at building so they decided to compete in the Non-Mount division this year, which means they had to add a more creative style to their routine. All of their hard work and dedication paid off when it came time for them to compete. They competed in the preliminaries and advanced to the final competition where they received fourth place.

This year's varsity team placed higher in their division than any other team that has competed at this competition. The girls also received another trophy, which was an Award of Excellence, for gymnastics.

Jodie Olds shows us that she's alert and ready to catch.

The girls' softball team had to go through a few changes this season. The first change was losing three senior starters and gaining six freshmen. Three of the new freshmen received varsity letters. The team had enough players to have a junior varsity and varsity team. With two teams everyone was given a chance to play.

The big change was getting a new coach. The softball program has had a lot of controversy the past few years over coaches, so when John Biggs announced that he was resigning parents started bickering once more. If they weren't arguing about

Biggs coaching or not coaching then they were arguing about who would take the position. Coach John Biggs had resigned early in the year. He wanted to get away from parents and he felt it was too stressful going from girls' basketball straight to softball. The coach this year was not a new face, but someone that's been coaching for a long time, Mr. Greg Sitzman. Mr. Sitzman also coaches freshmen football and teaches high school art. Mr. Sitzman admitted he didn't know everything about softball, but with the help of asst. coach Stan Hoss, he could help the girls. He might not know about softball, but he does know how to coach.

Mr. Sitzman wanted the girls to do two things: 1) Win more games than last year and 2) Work together and have a better attitude. The girls did both very well. They didn't win every game, but they did have a good winning season, 12 wins and 6 losses. They beat teams like Princeton, Bosse, and Jasper.

When it came to sectionals the girls fell short. In the first game on Wednesday they beat St. Meinrad. It was on Friday that they fell short to Boonville.

Had the girls not pulled together and gotten a new attitude the winning season would not have been possible. At the beginning of the season the girls seemed to have a reputation for having a bad attitude and bickering among themselves. Mr. Sitzman set out to change that and he did. By the end of the season the girls had pulled together and won twice as many games as last year.

The girls proved that it takes team work to win a softball game.

"Considering all the conflicts and obstacles we had to go through I felt the team did very well. I felt the team really matured great deal over last year."

Batter Up

The 1994 baseballers from South Spencer were a young, but hardnosed group. With only three seniors the Rebels managed to pull off quite an impressive season. After losing 3 of 4 games, the team decided to stop throwing gloves and kicking benches and start releasing some of that tension on a spherical cowhide known as a baseball. The hard hitting Rebels pounded out 120 runs to win 10 of their next eleven games.

In a cold, rainy outing with Tecumseh, the boys managed to keep the bats hot and even set a new school record of the most homeruns in one game-4. Danny Goodwin knocked 2 out of the park, while Josh Garrett and Eric Gardener slugged one each. On May 4, the Rebels defeated their northern county rivals in a nailbiter 5 to 4 before the largest home crowd of the season. The team then traveled to Jasper to clash with one of the best teams in the area. Right handed fireballer Josh Garrett hurled 84 mph fastballs past the Wildcat hitters throughout 7 innings and watched errorless ball played behind him. Unfortunately the Rebel offense only plated one run and lost one of the finest games of the season in the bottom of the 7th, 2 to 1. After the tough loss to Jasper, the guys didn't get down but managed to pull off another big win thanks to a two out rope by Aaron Wilson in the bottom of the 8th, that scored the game clincher against Mt. Vernon.

Going into the 1994 sectional the Rebels had started to peak. With the pitching rotation of consistant curveballer Jason Baize, flame-thrower Josh Garrett, and southpaw phenom Kris Goffinet, the Rebels were ready to rock.

Starting players on this year's team were catcher Danny Goodwin, 1st baseman Josh Garrett and John Rogier, 2nd baseman Jarrod Hedrick, Shortstop Kevin Davis, 3rd baseman Ron Yearby, left fielder Scott Brown, center fielder Eric Gardner, right fielder Aaron Wilson, and Trey Harmon who carried the stick in the d.h. position.

Jarrod Hedrick summed it up best when he said, "We've produced a winning season not by having a lot of great athletes, (we've had great athletes in the past who couldn't produce a winning record), but by having some dang fine baseball players who love to play the game."

The '94 Rebels were led by head coach Jim Haaff, and assistant coaches Roger Guth and Larry Snyder.

The Rebels finished their season at Boonville in the sectional. The Rebels were beat by Princeton by one point.

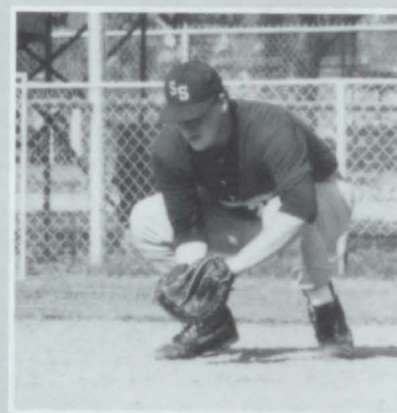

"We've produced a winning season by not having a lot of great athletes, but by having some dang fine baseball players who love to play the game."

Spare time is fun

Class Officers:
President, Chris Holstein; Vice President, Jason Bowers; Treasurer, Amanda Grose; Secretary, Julie Wood

Just what do students do in their hours away from school? In order to find the answer to this question we surveyed the junior class.

We found that many students have so few hours away from school that all they want to do is sleep. At least that's what Melissa Brauns tells us. Melissa is involved in so many sports, that it's not surprising that she savors any extra time she has to sleep. Melissa isn't the only person we interviewed who likes to sleep. Amanda Grose and Michael Barclay report that they like to spend their free time the same way.

We found one response just kept reoccurring, "What spare time?" Kristi Wilson, Tennille Wallace, Julie Wood, Aaron Wilson, Kevin Schweizer, Nicole Coomes, and Joe Borst all answered with that response.

Ashlee Wilson says she likes to spend time with her friends and her boyfriend. Other people such as Christina Alvey, Lorrie Stephens, Jamie Houle Amy Meredith, Karen Krantz, and Julie Street also like to spend time with friends.

It seems that girls like to shop and guys like to play sports or work on their cars. Ronda Ingram, Melissa Bunner and Katie Young both spend their spare time shopping and Brad Weatherholt and Josh Harper say they like to work on their cars. As could be expected Rodney Stephens, Andy Seitz, and Mike Matthews spend their free time golfing.

Melissa Stinson likes to talk on the phone and so does Christi Storey, while Debbie Tindle likes to watch the soaps.

"I like to spend my spare time with my boyfriend and friends, go horse-back riding, and go shopping."

Charity Fulkerson

UP WITH JUNIORS: Kelly Spinner and Brian Mathews feel the juniors are #1.

Guess my dream car

"I drive a Ford Escort, but my dream car is a black Corvette."
Brandi Austin

Ask modern students what they can do to help save the environment and most of them will have some thoughtful response, but ask them if they would be willing to give up their car to help save the earth and they will ask you if you have lost your mind.

It just seems that Americans have a love affair with their cars. Students don't usually get to own their dream car at age sixteen, but a large number of them do have a car to drive to school.

Not everyone wants to drive a car. Many people prefer trucks or some type of four wheel drive vehicle. In fact thirteen juniors drive some type of truck to school. For instance Kelly Nickens drives an '87 Jimmy; Austin Schroeder drives an '88 Jeep and Bobby Birchler drives a "Chevy" Truck.

The vast majority of our juniors drive rather normal American made cars. The age of these cars varies. For instance, Josh Harper drives an '80 AMC Spirit; Sarah Shields drives an '88 Ciera Cutlass; Joe Borst drives a '72 Nova SS; Karen Wandel drives a '76 Buick LeSabre; and Brian Matthews drives a '73 Nova.

Some members of the class drive what could be defined as extremely nice cars. Brad Weatherholt drives an '89 Camaro that is the envy of many. Michelle Koester looks sharp in her '93 Cougar and Melissa Brauns looks really sharp in her silver, LeBaron convertible. Missy Pannett and Ryan Shelby also drive convertibles.

Many students confess that they ride the big yellow bus to school or ride with friends.

MUSTANG MAN: Danny Wilczynski poses proudly with his classic Mustang.

LOVE THAT CAR: Brad Weatherholt owns the car that many wish they could drive, a 1989 Camaro.

"My dream car is a real big truck with a lot of power - an infinite amount of power."

T hey're my team

"My favorite team is the San Francisco 49ers and my favorite athlete is Steve Young."

Nathan Virgin

Does it make sense that if you're from the state of Indiana, then your favorite team would be the Hoosiers of Indiana University? More juniors named I.U. as their favorite team than any other.

Damon Bailey seemed to be one reason the Hoosiers are popular with Julie Wood. Of course Julie comes from a family that lives, breathes and sleeps I.U. basketball.

The second favorite athletic team among the Class of '95 was the Chicago Bulls. That makes sense, because more people selected Michael Jordan as their favorite athlete than any other.

Even though Michael disappointed the youth of America by retiring from the NBA, he still remains a popular favorite in their hearts. Michael was the mega-superstar of their youth and he will always hold a special spot in their hearts and memories.

Placing third among the juniors were the Kentucky Wildcats and the Atlanta Braves. How could so many Hoosiers like a team from Kentucky? It's probably because many people in Southern Indiana have moved here from Kentucky, or because the Wildcats are a highly ranked team, or just possibly some people think Rick Pitino is cuter than Bobby Knight.

Actually, Trey Harmon said his dad got him started liking the Wildcats.

John King and David Wade both said that they couldn't stand Bobby Knight.

What's the appeal of the Atlanta Braves? It seemed that Dave Justice was a lot of the appeal. In the words of Debbie Tindle, "Dave Justice rules!" Stephanie Daming agreed with Debbie.

Charles Barkley was the third favorite athlete named by the juniors.

"My favorite team is the Mighty Ducks and Super Dave is my favorite athlete."

Matt Badger

IT'S BLUE; NO IT'S RED: Ryan Thorpe's a loyal IU fan, but classmate Rodney Stephens is for UK all the way.

We wanted to know the "place" to shop and what clothes are "in." We surveyed the sophomores and here are the results.

First, where to buy clothes. Almost everyone agrees the mall is the place, including Kari Youngblood, Nathaniel Lauer and Melissa Wetzel. A store in the mall, County Seat was recommended by Rick Winkler, and Josh Farmer. Also, J.C. Penney's is a good place says Mark Hamilton and Kevin Goins, but Paceli Stephens loves to shop at Bacons. Besides the mall there are many other places. Lazarus is where Lance Palmer shops. "Allied is a great sports shop," says Chris Wirthwein. Although not all people agree that the mall is the place to go. The malls do have their appeal yet some people do not like to walk through all the stores that are available. To buy everything or anything, go to Wal-Mart say Robert Stillwell, Brian Poole, and Nicholle Edwards, but if you just hate to shop, Ronnie Yearby says to have mom go.

What is "in"? How about bell bottoms, ruffled shirts, and platform shoes say Sabrina Copeland and Sabrina Kirchgessner. Flannel shirts are also a must. Monesa Birge, Patricia Pech and Michelle Lester love to wear flannel. A great combination of "60's comfortable or grunge with combat boots." is what Kara Hawkins wears. Kristy Parr enjoys wearing hooked shirt and colored jeans. No matter what anyone wears the only thing that really matters is that they like what they wear and are happy with how they will be seen by others.

" Anything a person wears is in, as long as they keep their clothes on."

L earning to drive

"The part I remember the most about driver's ed is when I passed a tractor."
Jason DeWeese

When this year's sophomore class was surveyed on their driver's ed memories, the responses were astounding. Many sophomores such as Todd VanMeter, Kristy Parm, Cara Robinson, Tina Hasty, and Shawnell Toler have not yet had driver's ed; therefore, they have lifelong memories to look forward to. The students who have had driver's education encountered many interesting experiences. For instance, both Brandi Boultinghouse, and Richie DeWeese agree that their most memorable moment was when Doug Moore ran off the road while he was trying to look at a deer. Another student, Shawn Magary, feels that his most memorable moment would be when he almost hit a parked truck. David Jackson remembers having to drive on the highway at a speed of only 30 m.p.h. The fun not only occurs while driving, but also takes place in the classroom. Vanessa Virgin recalls talking politics with Mr. Densdorff, and Chad Mongold enjoyed the time when his classmate, Mike Raibley, had to stand in the corner. On the other hand, Mike Raibley remembers Aaron Parker and Chad Mongold fighting over a chair. Kara Hawkins and Donnie Westfall agree running over a opossum is the best. As a result of missing a stop sign, a student may have to kiss or hug the stop sign to learn a lesson, just ask Sabrina Kirchgessner, Kelly Smith or Angie Harris. Even though all of these incidents may seem funny and make driver's ed sound like a blast, just remember, there's always parallel parking say Amy Sitzman and John Fisher.

LEARNING TO DRIVE: Mr. Densdorff and a few of his students pose by the car before going on a drive through the country.

OH WHAT A FEELING: It may not be a Toyota, but Cheryl Glover doesn't care anyway.

F irst date jitters

"On my first date I fell out of the car."
Kristina Evans

What if you wear the wrong outfit, can't carry on a conversation, have sweaty palms and shaky knees or worse yet, what if your date gets the third degree from your parents?

Yes, we're talking about first date jitters. Don't worry, because all of the above are normal. Most parents can't resist the urge to give their son or daughter's date the third degree. Unfortunately, there's no way to avoid it. Lance Palmer and Evan Young say their date gets the third degree all the time. There are a few lucky teens such as, Heather DeWeese and Gerald Glover whose parents never play twenty questions with their date.

Kristy Marts and Aretha McCormick both admit to being extremely nervous on their first date. April End recalls her first date as being boring and Sara Middleton feels that her date was crazy. However, Holly Morrison and Cheyenne McKinney describe their first date as being great. "Heaven", was the word Patricia Pechi used to detail her first date. Going to the movies seemed to be the most popular place for a first date. Laura Arnold, Erin Smith, and Linda Butler all ended up at the movies on their first date. Paceli Stephens and her date went to the Olive Garden and then went to drive go-carts. Going to haunted houses is always interesting, according to Krista Westfall. Kevin Goins and his first date rocked at the Diamond Rio concert. All in all, most of the responses on the first date turn outs were pretty successful with the exception of Stephanie Strahl who accidentally spilled lasagna down her shirt.

F first impressions

Class Officers:

President, Valarie Bryant; Vice President, Jennifer Garret; Secretary, Stephanie Birchler; Treasurer, Joni Wade

What was your first impression of high school? When we asked the freshmen class this question the majority stated that they were afraid of getting lost. But when they arrived on that first day of high school, they had no problem and found it was relatively easy to find their classes.

Some of the freshmen like, Nicole Lawrence, Bobby Hagerty, and Stephanie Birchler stated their first impression was that high school would be "BIG". Yet after a few weeks of school they realized that even if the school is big it is easy to find your way around.

Others such as Patty Greene said that it would be "Crowded." Now that these students have been here for a while they know that high school is not as crowded as they thought it would be. A few like Jake Olmstead, Mary Loudon, and Tomarra Taylor all agreed that it was a lot more difficult than they expected. Then some like Jon W. Bolen and Gary Wead said it was just plain "Cool". We found most would respond like Jimmy Girten did when he said, "I'm actually here!"

Even though many freshmen had different answers for this question, they all agreed that after the first couple of weeks of getting the locker open, finding classes and getting used to "Stricter" teachers they knew it would be a better year than they expected!

We here on the yearbook staff wish these new freshmen the best of luck this year and the rest of they're high school years.

HURRY OR WE'LL BE LATE: Jenny Sullivan, Beth Langdon, Joni Wade enjoy getting to socialize before class.

I AM NOT PLAYING GAMES: Rebecca Fulks knows that the school's new computers can also help her with homework.

Freshmen phobias

"The worst part about being a freshman is that you are the youngest."

Kris Goffinet

Being a freshman and fear almost always go hand-in-hand in every high school. With so many new classes and new people no one could help but feel a little bit of pressure and more than overwhelmed. Never fear, because these feelings are natural and are suffered by many.

Many freshmen such as Julie Hoss, Doris Schulte, and Crystal Schaefer said they were worried about getting lost on the first day of school. This is a problem that many freshmen encounter.

Yet other students, such as Krissy Dickenson and Rebecca Fulks, spent time worrying about the rumors of freshmen being picked on by the upper classmen. Julie Biggs said, "My biggest fear was of what high school would be like."

Some students were more concerned with academics. Heather Dragoo and Tammara Taylor said they were worried about not getting enough credits.

Freshmen such as Matt Wroe and Sherry Woods were both concerned about how much homework they would receive now that they are in high school. Sean Russell merely replied with two words, "The teachers."

Although there were not many, some students, like Ryan Zaricki, said they were scared of everything. Yet some have that carefree outlook on life and high school such as Jenny Sullivan who said her biggest fear of high school was, "The nasty looking orange carpet!" This is one comment all classmen agree on.

"My biggest fear was that I did not think I'd have a lot of people I really knew in my classes."

H igh school goals

"I plan to take advanced classes for a higher diploma."

Beth Langdon

When we asked the freshmen class about their goals for high school, we received a number of different answers. Some have goals to achieve only in academics, others strive to achieve both academically and athletically. There are still those students who wish only to graduate.

Freshmen like Ryan Zaricki, Krissy Dickenson, and Sean Russell speak for most of their class when they say that they wish to get good grades. Surprisingly, only a few students, Eric Mead, Emily Seitz, and Devin Newton wish to achieve a G.P.A. of 3.0 or higher. Allison Like says that her main goals are to get the Academic Honors Diploma and being salutatorian of her graduating class. Education and friendship are what Rebecca Fulks wants to achieve in high school.

There are those students who don't ask much out of high school. The only goal that they wish to achieve is absolutely nothing. Others, only have the desire to graduate.

Of course, some students want to achieve in something other than academics. Sports are one area that students crave to become a success in. Aleisha Duncan wants a scholarship to play softball. Jimmy Girten would like a scholarship for track or cross country. To make varsity in three sports, and maintain good grades are the plans of Matt Wroe. Kameron Cron says it all when he says, "I want to play football, and especially baseball. I want to receive a letter in at least one sport. I also want the Academic Honors Diploma." As one can see Freshmen goals are very diverse.

This year has been a very eventful one. The athletic teams continue to provide a source of pride for our school as well as the band and chorus members who have done very well in state competition. Of course there are many success stories as individual students meet their goals for the school year. To all of those people my congratulations on a job well done. It has been a pleasure to serve as your principal this school year.

Looking to next year, now is the time to set your goals. When all of us work together and set goals, the whole school benefits. Together we can be even better accomplish what you really want to do.

"As a school corporation, we have every sincere hope that we have provided all kinds of learning opportunities for the class of 1994."

Dr. Gerald York

The commitment to provide effective and meaningful learning opportunities for students has continued to be acted out during the 1993-94 school year. Students have had increased exposure to knowledge and intellectual growth through the implementation of advanced technology in the school environment. Greater emphasis has been placed on skills needed to become a productive member of our nation's workforce. Curricular development in industrial technology and tech prep can be seen through the use of technology, robotics, hydraulics and hands-on learning methodologies being utilized to focus the ability to apply knowledge to real life challenges.

These and many other initiatives are the direct product and result of an on-going healthy conviction that our world will be a better place, if we do a better job educating our population. Issues and problems are as complex as ever before. Therefore, we need the graduating class of 1994 and all classes that follow to be armed with knowledge and to be prepared to seek solutions by transferring knowledge and skills into insight, perception, and higher level thought processes so that our civilization can overcome obstacles and further develop our quality of life and make that available to all peoples. As a school corporation, we have every sincere hope that we have provided those kinds of learning opportunities for the class of 1994. We encourage each member of the class of 1994 to become a part of the main flow of our society, to be an active problem solver, and to make life better for everyone.

"In each of these moments, you were a shining star and today, as young adults, you are set to embark on your greatest adventures."

Richard Hedrick

Young men and young women of the South Spencer High School graduating class of 1994, it was not so long ago when we as parents held you on our laps and read you stories that illustrated the visions and values we cherished. It was not so long ago when each night we brought you a drink of water, gave you a hug, told you we loved you, tucked you in bed and assured you there were no boogie men under your bed or behind your curtains.

It was not so long ago when we cheered as you took your first steps. Even though you fell a thousand times, we never gave up on you. It was not so long ago when we applauded after you had ridden your bike unassisted for several yards without misfortune. We always knew that you were a winner.

It was not so long ago that we watched as you stepped aboard the school bus for kindergarten for the first time. Some of us may have shed a silent tear on that occasion.

It was not so long ago that we beamed with joy when you jumped off the diving board for the first time and then dog paddled to the shallow end.

It was not so long ago that you performed at your first piano recital, your first dance revue, your first baseball game, your first talent show, your first spelling bee. In each of these moments, you were a shining star.

Today, as young adults, you are set to embark on your greatest adventures. Although we may not always be there to cheer you on be assured that we love you with all our hearts.

SOME THINGS NEVER CHANGE

Communities become cities, town markets become business districts, and growing businesses become corporations. But throughout all this growth, Lincolnland Bank has remained the number one financial backbone for the county.

But we'll admit some things have changed. We now have six convenient service centers to make banking easier. And 24-hour MoneyMover/PLUS® Network to access your accounts worldwide.

But the mainstays of reliable service, friendly faces, and our commitment to the community are still just the same.

Looking ON

As the last locker door slammed and the last car pulled out of the student parking lot, the 1993-94 school year came to an end. Once again it is summer vacation, a greatly anticipated break. Some of the students will get jobs, others will play sports, some will just hang out with their friends, and yet others will still be here working on this yearbook. Whatever they choose to do, each and every student is determined to make this summer the very best yet.

As we look back on this year, many great memories have been made that none of us will soon forget. Many new experiences have been presented to us that will give us a character and shape us into the people we will become.

Then, there is the senior class. Graduation, held on May 28, is the turning point of many young people's lives. This is the time that we are no longer children. We are adults, let go to face the world, whether our new world is a continued education or moving on to the workplace. Seniors are faced with a new responsibility, one that may be overwhelming, but part of growing up.

Now, it's time to wrap up this school year. Everyone is looking on to the future, and as we do, each person is determined to Take it to the LIMIT!

Left: Vanessa Virgin, Jodie Olds, Cara Bailey, and Amy Sitzman are looking on as the basketball team goes on to win yet another game.

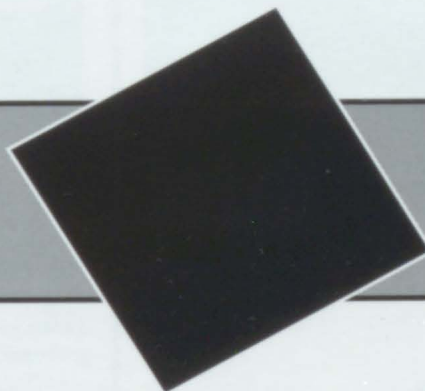

Left: Stephanie Girten is looking on into a bright future, and she is confident it is going to be good.

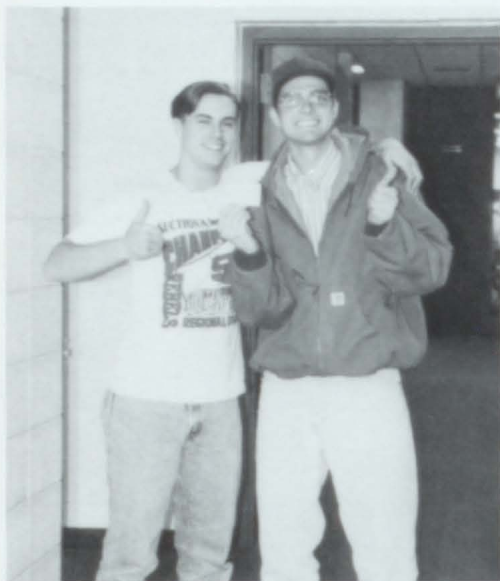

Left: Well there are a lot of very unique students at our school. Leslie Seaton, Julie Street, and Cheyenne McKinney show their individuality.

No LIMITations

Above: Phil Vaughan and Shad McDurmon give this year their approval with a two thumbs up.

Above: Emiliano Morales waves goodbye as the 1994 school year comes to a very quick close.
