PIECES OF YOU

Diversity makes our world a more enjoyable place to call home. Without it the world would seem dull and uninteresting. Each of us gives a piece of ourselves in order to create a vast array of personalities. Heritage Hills contains a student body that looks beyond differences and completes the puzzle, making all the pieces fit.

-Ashley Stetter

"Reflections"

*One may wonder how we became so gifted,
so aware of what we hold for ourselves, to this I say difficulty has not been a roommate nor a friend.*

For what we gain we have gained only by losing for we have achieved this moment only by losing time.

We need to leave, but our reflections stay:

Reflections of football games and warm thoughts

Reflections of dented lockers or the school song

Reflections of a crowded cafeteria or an empty gym

Reflections of a first smile and a last goodbye and now we stand alone, together as one like a brick wall crashed into by cars

in between the door of tomorrow and the doorstep of now and every step we take will open a new door,

where we will travel into a new world,

a world made of a different light

A world that is not filled with luminations, contradictions, and lies and a light that only blinds with clarity.

A light explaining four years of standing up and yet we are joined as one by our single tears as we step

across the tapestries

of time long gone, fear less welcome future still unfolding, and ourselves always reflecting.

-Steven Isaacs

Breaking the pieces, putting them back together...

As over 700 students piled into the newly constructed high school on August 16, 2000, over 100 construction workers were still hard at work trying to finish the project. The students were very confused the first day because of the new layout of the classrooms. Within the next week, the students finally figured out where all their classrooms were located. Junior Kristen Weaver said, "I've have always dreamed of the day we would have walls, and now it is finally here." Vice Principal Mr. Robert Moore said, "We were able to find enough classroom space for everybody. The students and teachers carried on business as usual. I really think it is a credit to our students and staff for being so flexible and understanding."

Show Me the Money

where patriots work

Twenty-five students are involved in the Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education program. This program is for senior students, who wish to work during school hours; students involved in the program receive hands-on training at their jobs. In addition, many students have after school jobs. This enables students to work more hours. Students find jobs to be challenging and yet rewarding. Many find themselves battling between work and school. By working long hours, many give up their recreational time and study time. Many find that their only reward is a paycheck. Not only do they earn money for a new car or truck, car insurance, a cell phone, new clothes, a ticket to a rock concert, or saving for college tuition, but teens also learn valuable life skills. Junior Chris Schafer said, "I learned to get the job done and be on time."

Winter Wonderland holiday ball

On December 16, the student council along with the sponsors, Mrs. Nancy Harrison and Ms. Julia Davis turned the cafeteria into a Winter Wonderland for the annual Holiday Ball by setting up the background for the pictures with Frosty The Snowman. Around 9:00, the Holiday Ball Prince and Princess were announced. The Holiday Ball Prince, Adam Kress was crowned by sophomore Kara Lambeck. Princess Julie Anderson was crowned by junior Matt Hagedorn. Spectrum Sound was the DJ for the evening. By the time the dance was over, the roads were covered with snow and ice. Many people had a difficult time getting home, but fortunately everyone made it safely. Regardless of the weather everyone had a great time.

Hold on to the Night

an unforgettable prom

As students entered the Ferdinand Community Center on April 6, 2001, they were adorned with roses, rose petals, twinkling lights, shining silver stars, Bon Jovi's "Bed of Roses" playing loudly by Spectrum Sound, and the smiling faces of their peers. This could only mean one thing. Prom night. The juniors hosted the annual Junior/Senior prom in style. The theme was "Hold on to the Night" and the prom song was "Bed of Roses." Students were swept off into a world of dancing and fun from 7:00 PM to 11:00 PM. Seniors Kyle Waninger and Julie Anderson were voted king and queen by those who attended prom. All in attendance were given a souvenir picture frame and memory book as they exited the community center and went back into the real world. However, each person who went to prom will forever "hold on to the night."

Casino Cruise

after prom

The Casino boat arrived at Heritage Hills around 11:30 P.M. on April 6, 2001 and floated on into the morning until 4:00 A.M. Juniors, seniors, and their dates all enjoyed lots of food, crazy games, and the many prizes students could receive. The parents were proud to announce that they had more prizes than ever for this year's After Prom. Some of the exciting games included sumo wrestling, black jack, crazy golf, roulette, craps, and the new game called "milking the cow." The parents also provided the annual picture taking of students posed in crazy clothes.

Towards the end of the night all of the students and their dates headed into the auditorium to wrap up the night with the grand prize drawing. The prizes given out included a DVD player and gift certificates to Eastland Mall. Overall the night was a complete success.

Whatever course you decided upon, there is always someone to tell you that you are wrong.

There are always difficulties arising which tempt you to believe that your critics are right.

To map out a course of action and follow it to an end requires courage.

- The class then received a speech of congratulations from Mr. Logdson, along with his good-byes and good-lucks.
- To end their last day together, they went to the Executive Inn of Owensboro to have lunch and to hang out for the last time as one big group.

Time of your Life

graduation day

On May 26, the class of 2001 gathered together for the last time. The Lincoln Amphitheater was overflowing with friends and family, all wanting to share the special memory of graduation day. As the band played "Pomp and Circumstance," the graduates marched in, adorned in their blue caps and gowns, beaming with pride. Senior class president Andy Balbach welcomed everyone to the ceremony. The band provided musical entertainment, and the high school choir sang heartwarming songs. The senior members of the choir also sang a memorable ensemble. Each student received his or her diploma with a radiant grin or with tears of joy. The top ten students in the class were recognized including valedictorian Angela Lindauer and salutatorian Andy Balbach. Angela and Andy each spoke of the future and recalled memories of the past. The class was presented to the school board by Mr. Logsdon, and accepted by Superintendent Mr. Ron Etienne. The tassels were turned and the recessional was played. The graduates all left the amphitheater with a memorable accomplishment; they had made it through high school.

A Leader

- The State Department of Education recognized our school reading program as being the best one in the state for providing students the opportunity to develop lifelong reading habits.
- The football team won the Class 3A state championship. We enjoyed the tournament games that provided us the opportunity to prove our might against three of the best teams in the Indianapolis area.
- All of us had the opportunity to enjoy the new facilities after many months of enduring the interruptions caused by construction crews.
- Students in the technology classes had the opportunity to learn with state of the art equipment in all areas.
- Our students/athletes in winter sports had the opportunity to use a third gym that allowed for more convenient practice times.

Dear Students,

This school year has been a positive one to remember! In addition to the above items, our students and teachers continued the fine tradition of working and learning in an environment that enables everyone to succeed. Our eighth and tenth grade ISTEP+ scores are an indication that teachers are providing students with the proper curriculum and that students are learning.

Congratulations to all students who participated in the drama, band, and vocal music productions. Members of both the concert and marching bands were successful at local, regional and state competitions. Students in the drama department provided several evenings of entertainment that were enjoyed by all. Middle and high school choral members looked sharp and sounded great. Thanks to the directors and parents who provided members of these groups the opportunity to enhance their playing and performing skills.

Thanks to the businesses and organizations that support our students and teachers in the serious business of developing that next generation of leaders. Without your financial and moral assistance, our students would not have such great opportunities to learn in these nice facilities.

We are fortunate to have a mature group of students under the leadership of Mrs. Harrison producing a first class school yearbook. I am very proud of the manner in which the staff captures the vitality of this school and community.

- The Drama Department spent four weekends during the month of October participating in the haunted trail, Psychopath, at the Lincoln State Park, and made an astounding profit of $2,295.50.

- The 4 x 100 relay team of Jon Smith, Darrell Smith, Brandon Casey, and Matt Ratliff came in second overall.
- The 4 x 100 relay team that consisted of Shane Wilkey, Maria Encarnaion, Elizabeth Foerster, and Melissa Beier came in first overall.
- Everyone had a ton of fun at the olympics and can't wait until next year rolls around.
- They each represented our school to the best of their abilities and dominated like true Patriots.

A Final Piece

As the 2000-2001 school year comes to a close, so does another piece of each of our lives. Even though we are moving on, we will never forget the friendships, teachers, and faculty that have made us who we are today. We look forward to what the future holds and know that the memories of 2001 will forever live in our hearts. We, the yearbook staff, sincerely hope we have captured special memories that each of you will cherish for a lifetime.
