The Principal's Message

To the worthy student body of Dale High School: The most important aspect of your education is to realize at an early age that life has a purpose. Life will be empty for the person that fails to try to understand his place in society. Every worthy student need to know that he can not be a part of any organization or facet of society without bearing an influence. This influence will be negative or positive, debit or credit.

SPRING FEVER

The Seniors presented their class play "Spring Fever" on April 13, 1956, under the direction of Mrs. Josephine P. Stone.

Spring Fever, By Glenn Hughes, a farce in three acts is the story of Howard Brant, a senior at Brookfield College. Howard's Aunt Maude arrives on the day before Commencement and persuades Professor Bean "to pass" him so he could graduate with his class. The play is fast, furious and funny and ends entirely to everybody's satisfaction.
